SKATING A HEALTHY RECREATION

One of the most ancient sports which the human race has enjoyed is that of skating, and interest in It is as keen as ever. The earliest form of a skate was a shin or rib bone of some animal which was tied to the foot, and was an invention of the Norseman. Ancient skates made of bone are shown in various museums. The date of the invention of the skate with metal runners is unknown, but it may have been as early as the third century.
