AC-TEEN TOPICS

A wonderful crowd enjoyed the novel fun at the Penguin Club last Friday. It was a special event indeed. It was a Leap Year dance. The boys had to stand hopefully by while the girls did the asking. A boys' tag gave the fellows a break as did the Paul Jones and other novelty dances.

Of course, there is the regular dance this week with the usual attractions. Just a bit of inside information tells us the council is working on something new and different that will certainly please us all. If it works out, the Penguin Club will be in still a higher class. "It" should be ready in about two weeks, so watch for it.

There's a great wearin' at the green coming up the following week in celebration of the patron Irish Saint.

The school hockey team put on a benefit game and though the results of the proceeds were good, the score was terrible. We won't let the cat out of the bag by telling the score but Acton wasn't on top.

Ski enthusiasts had pleasant thoughts on sighting the fresh fall of snow and the winter break drew to a close. More spills and thrills.

The thaw put into minds the thoughts of spring and at spring a young man's fancy turns to brush cuts when the golden locks are shorn to keep in style. The young men's hopes were extinguished, however, with the fresh fall of snow and the whistling winter winds.

The Penguin Prom seems to be quite a desired thing. Keep voicing your views. That's what counts.

Series Tied as Orangeville Wins 7-3 Monday Night.

Morton, then Riddell was given a penalty. Within a minute the Green-shirts slipped the biscuit home twice. Have broke loose as Acton put on the pressure. McDonnell saved time and time again. Then Leno Marzo, and D. Hoare mixed it up and both were ejected. However the affair hadn't ended. Hilton and R. Gillespie, were throwing fists and when Hilton floored Gillespie with a terrific right they joined the other penitents. Baylis followed shortly. To make their victory complete White Gillespie twirled the hulk at 19:00 on a pass from brother Ralph. The bell heralded police protection for Willard and Gerrard as fans fled out muttering epithets to the clumsy handling of the match.

To-night the game which decides the winning club, takes place in Acton Arena. Be assured of a ding-dong battle.

Restoration On The Way

By Joseph Lester Rutledge
All inspired propaganda to the contrary, Western Europe is pulling itself out of its Slough of Despond. Faced with communist-inspired strikes and civil disorders, that in France and Italy have been critically serious, there has been a steady progress toward a restored independence.

The major problem in recovery has been the need for increased coal output and agricultural production. British miners have established new production records and once more there is a surplus for export to France. This will shortly be extended to the Scandinavian countries. Miners of the Ruhr, given the incentive of extra food and consumer goods in return for increased production, have stepped up output by some 60,000 tons a day. In the Christmas week their production reached 118 per cent of the 1938 average.

Raymond Daniell, surveying Western Europe's position in relation to the Marshall Plan, reports in the New York Times that Britain is not only increasing coal production but is increasing the acreage devoted to food production with resultant further reductions in the imports of food and consumer goods. Italy is proposing to reduce her imports of food commodities by about 20 per cent and to stop up her export of agricultural products by 150 per cent and her industrial exports by 50 per cent.

Sweden, Norway and Denmark are suffering from serious crop failures last year, and a still more serious lack of dollars. But, given dollars, they can very quickly become self-supporting. Turkey has food, fuel and general commodities to meet her needs. Austria, freed from the Soviet grip, would have power and oil and wood pulp in ample supply for export, and could quickly look after herself. Only Greece, with its unstable government and communist threats, both within and without, has been unable to better her position.

Western Europe is doing a splendid job of meeting the requirements of restoration and of opposing a solid front to the threat of communist dominance.

BRITISH IMPORTS

The large part that Canada has taken in providing Britain with foodstuffs is revealed in United Kingdom trade returns, for the calendar year 1947, according to a recent issue of Foreign Trade. Of all the flour imported by Britain during the year, Canada supplied 72 per cent. Canadian wheat represented 82 per cent of the British imports; oats 90 per cent; bacon 73 per cent, cheese 12 per cent, and condensed milk 20 per cent.

MORE TEXTILE FIBRES

Further evidence of the growing importance of Canada's synthetic textile production is seen in two recent developments—a large production of nylon and rayon staple fibres, reports the Financial Post. Involved in the operations are the three big names in the synthetic textile field—Canadian Industries Ltd., Canadian Cellulose Corp and Courtaulds (Canada). Production of staple fibres in both synthetics will offer Canadians a wider variety of textile goods incorporating many special features; it will cut our imports, particularly in rayon staple, almost to nothing. In 1947 Canada imported 12.5 million lbs. of rayon staple at a cost of $4,121,285.

NEWSPAPER READING

Some people say that their lives are so very busy and hurried that they get but little time to read their newspapers. Some may say that usually they can snatch only some brief glances at them, reading the headlines, and perhaps just skimming through the stories that interest them the most.

For most people the time spent in reading their newspapers seems very productive, and suggests quite valuable in their work or business. The home town paper tells people what is going on in their community, and helps them to take advantage of its many opportunities. The advertising gives valuable information about what is being sold and what things cost.

The newspaper gives a picture of modern life and reading it carefully helps people to meet the problems of life.
