CANADIAN NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR BLIND APPEAL IN ACTON

At a summer course given by the Caradian National Institute for eighteen blind girls from all parts of Canada were trained to carry out one of the Institute's mos important services - that of Home

Teaching. As qualified Home Teachers, these girls will be sent to the home of those who have lost their sight. They will show the blind person how he can do innumberable things for himself - little things, like using a knife and fork, moving from room to room without stumbling, drying dishes for his wife, all of which require a Rector-Rev. W. G. Luxton, B. new technique when one cannot see. The more he learns the more he'll want to learn. His teacher will give him lessons in Braille, in typing in handierafts. She may teach hind to play cribbage with Braille pards and a special board.

Above all else, she will give him the confidence to strike out for himself, to attempt new tnings, to make the most of what he can de rather than lamenting over what he can't do. Because the Home Teacher is blind herself, he will know that he is not condenined to a life sentence of idleness and dependence. He will know | that he can learn to live full even in darkness.

This is one of the ways in which the Canadian National Institute for the Blind serves sightless Canadians. This is one of the reasons why the Institute is appealing to the people of Acton for funds at the present time. This work is vital to the well-being of the blind. It is hoped that the citizens will respond generously to the call of the Institute, sponsored in Acton ev the Duke of Devonshire Chap-'er I.O.D.E. and convened by Mrs. R. N. Baird. Tag Day May 1st.

ARTHUR PLANT DIED SUDDENLY LAST THURSDAY

Many friends of his boyhood in Acton and district were shocked to learn of the sudden death last Thursday of Arthur C. Plant. aged 57 years, depot master at the C.N.R at Brantford, Mr. Plant stepped off a train after congratulating Conny Smythe and his | Maple Leafs on winning the Stanley Cup and died suddenly. Mr. Plant was a friend of Mr. Smythe with whom he served oversens in the first great war.

He knew the Maple Leafs, bound back to Toronto, were on the train and had walked to the mar and of j the train to extend his congratulations when he suffered a heart attack Dr. R. W. Digby was summoned when Mr. Plant was found lying beside the track. Dr. A. J. Craven, coroner, also attended.

Besides his widow. Mr. Plant leaves two daughters. Isobel, Plant of London; Betty at home and two sons, John and James, at Arthur Plant was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Flant and was born here and spent his boyhood days in Acton and district. He was one of the baseball pitchers on the Acton team in those days and was keenly interested in sport. We understand he was at the Acton-Port Dover game played at Brantford. A brother William is station agent at the Guelph CNR. station. Sympathy of many friends goes to the bemarry.

Motorist, watch out for children! Not just in the towns but also out on the highways and sural roads. There are thousands of youngsters riding buses daily between their schools and their homes. Watch out for children on the streets and roads, and give them the right of way-for life.

FIRST HOCKEY

It seems only right that Canada should lay claim to the game of hockey, but, up to the moment, there has been little proof. The game evolved from the parent game of "hurley" or "shinny" that were relatively ancient English diversions. When the Englishman adopted the art of skating from the Hollanders in the early. 17th century, they quickly put shinny on ice. So mugh for the ancient history.

Quite recently, however, a commission of McGill University, Montreal, put learned heads together in an effort to decide when and where the modern game of hockey was first played. Their investigations led to the discovery that the first hockey game was played between two nine-men teams at the Victoria Skating Rink in Montreal. The year, 1875. Unless someone can offer a better claim this stands .
