COURTESY OF IMPORTANCE When the driver in the car in front of you slows down or moves into another driving lane, or turns left or right, you expect him to give you plenty of warning. You expect to be given the proper signals well ahead of time - by the fellow in front of you. Now think about the car behind you. Obviously he feels the same way about it. He wants you to tell him what you are going to do. The law is on his side, too, but it's more than a matter of law - it's a matter of common courtesy - the kind that saves lives.

UNCLE SAM LIKES OUR LOBSTER About 70% of all the lobster canned in Canada goes to the United States, leaving 30% for domestic consumption, according to Canadian Grocer. Incidentally, Canada is said to be the only country in the lobster-canning business. Not a 1 yearly pack is around 60,000 cases.

CREWSON-FETTERLY WEDDING IN BAPTIST CHURCH HERE

Standards of pink and white gladioli made a pretty setting in Acton Baptist Church, Saturday August 28th at 3 p.m. when Norma Irene Fetterly, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Fetterly was united in marriage to Joseph Frederick Crewson, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crewson, West Flamboro, Ont., with Rev. Chas. R. Gower officiating. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper satin and net wedding gown fashioned on fitted lines with satin poplin trimmed with chantilly lace, over full net skirt. The round high neckline was made of net with trim of Chantilly lace. The long sleeves ended inilly points over the wrists. Her finger tip veil of tulle illusion was held by a Queen Anne head dress and she carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses, fern and baby's breath. She wore a simple strand of pearls a gift from the groom. The bride was attended by her sister, Joan Fetterly, wearing gold brocade net over taffeta, with floral headdress of yellow rose buds and tulle with matching gauntlets and carried a bouquet of red roses. The groom was attended by his brother Edward Crewson and the ushers were Mellburn Blow and Ken Adamson. The wedding music was played by Chas. Landsborough, organist, who accompanied the soloist Miss Betty Gibson.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the Y.M.C.A. hall. The bride's table was a three-storey wedding cake and lighted candles, carrying out the same color scheme as at the church. Receiving with the groom's mother, Mrs. Fetterly wore street-length dress of turquoise crepe, with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Crewson chose a royal blue crepe dress with corsage of American beauty roses and black accessories. For a wedding trip to Wasaga Beach and points north, the bride wore a dove pink gabardine suit with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. On their return, they will reside in Toronto. Those attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Molnar and children, Riecky and Terry of Massena, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carr of Lisbon N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robinson of Ogdensburg, N. Y., Mr. John A. Roszell of Hillsburgh, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Crewson of West Flamboro, Ont.

A HEARTY WELCOME

Canadians are ready to extend a hearty welcome to Newfoundlanders as soon as it is possible for the oldest British Colony to become the youngest Canadian Province. Newfoundland is a proud island, rich in tradition, having itself enjoyed dominion status for many years. It will not be easy for its citizens to see their country become the tenth province of a neighboring Dominion. However, other provinces of Canada suffered similarly in the past when they sacrificed individual independence for the sake of unity and the privileges of Confederation. Several hundred thousand Newfoundlanders already live in Canada. For them it will mean a cementing of their loyalties. Thousands of Canadian lads spent the war years in Newfoundland. They will be glad of an opportunity to express gratitude for the hospitality received.

It is good news for the whole world that two Christian democratic countries have been able to set aside their differences and their ancient disputes in favour of unity and to accomplish the same by the use of the free ballot. The two countries have much in common. By building on what unites instead of emphasizing what divides, they may together be able to set an example for the rest of the world. It is up to individual Canadians to make the welcome real by expressing interest in Newfoundland as they meet her people. The business men will have their part to play in seeing that commercial dealings are on the square, so that the Fishing Interests of British Columbia do not conflict with those of the Fishing Fleets of Newfoundland. The Pulp and Paper Mills of Ottawa will undoubtedly give consideration to the Pulp Mills of Cornerbrook. Halifax Harbour will have the role of friendship rather than that of rivalry with the great Port of St John's. These are the things we must work for if we expect our new sister province to help us build Canada of our hopes where "wild snail have dominion from sea to sea".

First Anniversary Halton County Health Unit

On September 1st, 1947, Halton County Health Unit took over the responsibility for safeguarding the public health of Halton County. The formation of the Unit was made possible by an amendment to the Public Health Act of the Province in 1944 whereby the Provincial Department of Health agreed to jettison half the cost of Health Units in rural Ontario. The purpose of these Units was to make available to the rural residents all the facilities of modern public health. Until this subsidy was provided only large units of population such as cities could afford full time health services.

This was an extremely difficult period in which to begin a Health Unit; trained personnel were few, cars, an essential in rural work, were difficult to obtain, office equipment was expensive and not easy to find. However, these obstacles were overcome. The County provided the Unit with excellent office accommodation and by the end of October a complete staff had been assembled. The first year of an enterprise is usually one of planning and of building for the future. One does not expect too much to be accomplished in this period of organization. However, a vast amount of public health work has been covered in this past year. One big factor in the success has been the whole-hearted co-operation received from all groups in the county. These groups include not only official bodies, such as municipal councils, school authorities, etc., but also many other groups in the county such as service clubs, farm organizations, women's groups, physicians, dentists, Red Cross Societies, Home and School Associations, Canadian Legion and many others. It was by their co-operation that this work has been made possible.

The work of a health unit should be of help to all groups and classes in a community and should serve all age groups. A review of some of the activities of the Health Unit during the past year will serve to illustrate how complete this coverage has been. Public Health Nursing Services The nursing service is a generalized program aimed at reaching all groups in the community from pre-natal, through infant, pre-school, school to adults and includes general health supervision, clinics, school health, tuberculosis venereal disease control etc. One index of the nurse's activity is the number of visits made to homes during the past year. They have made 5,351 visits to homes in the county. They have made 1770 visits to schools. At Child Health Clinics there has been an attendance of 863 children.

Immunization is one of the most valuable weapons in the control of communicable disease. In the past year 1,100 children have been successfully vaccinated as a protection against smallpox. By either original course or re-inforcing doses 415 children have been protected against whooping cough, 3,037 against diphtheria and 65 against tetanus. Regular clinics have made these services easily available in the towns and 3 visits were made to each rural school in the county so that children in the rural areas would have an equally good opportunity to obtain this protection.

With the co-operation of the Halton County Christmas Seal Committee, regular monthly, free chest x-ray clinics have been set up in Milton and Oakville, and the facilities in Guelph, Toronto and Hamilton are also used. The mass x-ray survey covered all the towns last year and this fall it is planned to offer this service to the rural areas by means of a mobile clinic.

School Medical Services In addition to the nursing services in the schools, medical examination was made available throughout the county. The school medical officers made 141 visits to 57 rural and 9 town schools for medical examinations. They carried out 1,365 examinations of which 1,083 were complete examinations. In the 5 High Schools, there were 23 visits during which 515 students were examined, 312 being complete examinations.

Sanitary Services The activities of the sanitary inspectors have been wide and varied covering all aspects of sanitation, food control, communicable disease control, etc. They made a total of 1,900 visits and investigated 157 complaints. They took 475 samples of milk and 414 samples of water for laboratory analysis. On 143 occasions eating utensils were examined for bacteriological analysis in restaurants and glasses were examined 55 times in beverage rooms. The new provincial legislation recently passed covering eating establishments and

Gillespie Brothers Open New Store In Owen Sound

The Owen Sound Sun-Times carried a double page spread last week that was of interest to many folks here. The two pages were sponsored by Owen Sound sport fans to announce the opening of Gillespie's Hardware owned by Grant and Doug Gillespie. The brothers are players on the Owen Sound Lacrosse team and Doug has been a star on the Senior hockey team. Acton fans of course know Grant who has for three seasons been a star of Acton Tanners' hockey club while he was employed with Symon Hardware in Acton. We're all sorry he won't be wearing a Tanners sweater this season but every fan and a host of friends with Grant and his brother Doug every season a their new hardware store in Owen Sound.
