

PRAYER

Make me too brave to lie or be unkind. Make me too understanding, too, to mind. The little hurts, companions give and friends. The little careless hurts that in one quite intend. Make me too thoughtful to hurt others so. Help me to know the honest hearts of those for whom I care. Their secret wishes, all the loath they bear. That I may add my courage to their own. May I make lonely folks feel less alone. And happier ones a little happier yet. May I forget What ought to be forgotten and recall. Unfading, all That ought to be recalled, each kindly thing. Forgetting what might sting. To all upon my way May after days, Let me be joy, be hope, let my life sing. Amen

MILTON

Over 400 people jammed the Princess Theatre last week to attend one of the best local talent shows staged in Milton in many years. It was a benefit concert with a score of artists from Milton, Campbellville, Bronte, and the surrounding district taking part.

Three mountaineers failed to stem Milton's attack when they took the second game of the best of three series from Colbourne by a score of 1-0 at Colbourne yesterday afternoon.

For the first time in a number of years, Milton Fire Brigade responded to two different calls within an hour Sunday afternoon. Both calls were of minor nature, but could have possibly caused considerable damage had each blaze progressed beyond control. -Canadian Champion.

Exposition 4 Barnabas Glives of His Substance, 4:36-37.

Some time has passed since Pontecost, a year or more, but still the unity and love of the early Church abide. It was deep-seated and permanent. Its source is found in v. 31, "They were all filled with the Holy Ghost." Unity and love are seen in genuine Christianity in every age, but the forms of their expression may differ, even as they did in the early Church, for we find no community of goods outside Jerusalem, but no true Christian regards ought of the things which he possesses as his own (4:31; 1 Jno. 3: 14, 17, 18). The reason why great grace was upon them all was because love and self-sacrifice abounded. No man looked upon his own interests, "but every man on the things of others" (2 Cor. 9:7, 8; Phil. 4:15, 19). The principle upon which they made distribution was a Christian principle, "unto each according as any one had need," not according to distinguished abilities or notable service, but according to "need." Every true Christian will consider his property, not as his own, but as belonging to the whole Church and to be used for them (1 Tim. 6:17-19; 1 Jno. 3:17-19). The pre-eminent illustration of Christian love in the New Testament is Barnabas. Having a field he sold it and brought the money and laid it at the apostles' feet." II. Barnabas Friend of Paul, 9: 26, 27.

Saul found great difficulty in being received by Christians. They were afraid that there was some plot behind his pretended conversion. Many feel that same way today, when a Jew claims to be converted. If any true disciple of Christ is under suspicion, let him take comfort in the fact that the most devoted follower whom Jesus Christ ever had was under suspicion at first. Indeed, he was under suspicion until the end (ch. 18:2; 21:20-24). But Jesus, our Lord, trusted him, even if the disciples did not (ch. 22:17-21), and Jesus today trusts many a man whom the disciples distrust. The faith of the disciples in Jerusalem did not yet arise in the light of believing that so bitter an infidel could become so devoted a believer in so short a time. Let us never forget when dealing with sceptics and infidels that Paul was only the bitterest of infidels and enemies of our Lord, and many a man today who was once an infidel is a mighty preacher of Him he once hated and persecuted. While the great body of disciples could not believe that their enemy, Saul, had become a true disciple of the Lord Jesus, there was a man in the Jerusalem church "full of the Holy Spirit and of faith" (ch. 11:22-24), and he had confidence in the new convert and espoused Saul's cause. Thus Saul got an opening in Jerusalem.

III. Barnabas Follow Up the Work, 11:22-26.

As soon as tidings of the Gentile revival at Antioch reached Jerusalem (ch. 20, 21) there was great interest there. They set one of their best men to investigate and co-operate. "He was a good man." He was also "full of faith," and no man that is not, need undertake the work of instructing and developing young converts, especially converts from heathenism so dark as that (ch. 4:36, 37). He was free from personal ambition and jealousy in his work (vs. 25, 26). He was very sharp-eyed, to see the natural outcome of the visit of such a man as Barnabas and such work as his, was that "much people were added to the Lord." They were not added to Barnabas, but "unto the Lord." Barnabas showed his largeness of spirit in still another way. He said to himself, "This is just the place for Saul. I will go get him." For a whole year Barnabas and Saul worked together in Antioch. The disciples got at this time the name by which they are best known since: Christians.

IV. Barnabas and Saul Called, 13:1-3.

The church at Antioch had five "prophets and teachers" worthy of mention by name. This early Gentile church became a fountain of light and life to many other places. The Holy Ghost spoke to them "as they ministered to the Lord and fasted." A Spirit-filled mind rarely accompanies an over-filled stomach. It is not said how the Spirit spoke, whether in an audible voice, or silently, in the inner recesses of the heart; but He spoke in an unmistakable way. He is ready to speak today, if we will supply the proper conditions and listen. It was the Holy Spirit's work to call; it was man's work to recognize the call, and set the called apart for the work. Those who ignore ordination by man are as scriptural as those who ignore a call by God. But it was "for the work whereunto" the Spirit called that they were to be set apart. Every step in that church was taken in prayer.
