

COLOR TIME

Here's a fine spectacle, everything wearing Powder and paint and a lot of fan-dances. Wintertime coming and, not a thing to get Goldenrod tipsy in all the fence angles. Color enough to fair dazzle your eyes. With every old sumac a pillar of fire. And leaves blowing over light high butterflies. Carried up higher and higher and higher. Whirled in a circle of glittering wings. And laid down again in a carpet of red. I don't know as I quite approve of such things. They muddle a man and unsettle his head. He's apt to get notions that he hadn't ought. Till winter comes on like a sad second thought. —Herbert Merrill.

Oakville's Juvenile "B" baseball team was beaten by Petrolia in the final game for the O.B.A. championship at Labatt Park, London, on Saturday afternoon. The score was 4-3. Oakville lost the first game of the finals by 8-0, and won the second game by the score of 3-1 in Oakville on Wednesday of last week. This gives Petrolia the Juvenile "B" title. Trafalgar Township is to have a new township and community hall. Architect's plans for the proposed building, to be known as the Trafalgar Memorial Hall, were approved by the Township Council at its meeting on Monday. It will house the offices of the township clerk and treasurer; the chief of police, the council chamber, an auditorium with stage and a kitchen and dining room. Its cost will be approximately $50,000.—Record Star.

At a meeting of the public school board, held at the Central school last Wednesday, a resolution was passed to ask the town council for $150,000 for the erection of an 8-room addition to the Central school. The remodeling of the building to include new steel stairs, is included in the estimates, as well as a new heating plant. On Saturday afternoon, Central public school took part in the Halton Track and Field Championship meet held in Georgetown under the auspices of the Georgetown Recreational Council. Joan Bowman, 13 years old, was the outstanding performer, winning four medals and winning against all competitors in the open 60-yard dash. Although rain prevented the completion of the program, the public school cup was won by Central. The first 30-mile relay race in the history of sports in town was staged on Saturday afternoon last under the auspices of the newly formed Burlington Athletic Club. PARAPHRASING DOOLEY

It was Mister Dooley, recalls Napier Moore in his Financial Post "Scratchpad," who said: "I care not who makes the laws of a nation so long as I can take out an injunction." These days, comments Moore, it seems to us some departments of the Ottawa Government paraphrase it. "We care not who makes the laws of a nation so long as we can get an order-in-council."

Of Halton Farm Interest

Friday of last week marked the annual provincial inter-club competitions for Ontario's Club members. Upwards of 200 Club teams each made up of two Club members between the ages of 16 and 20, inclusive, and who had not previously represented their Club in a former inter-club competition in the same project, were in action at the O.A.C. In all there were eight different competitions under way during the day. These young people represented some 10405 young people enrolled in Ontario in 1948 in such projects as beef calf clubs, dairy calf clubs, swine clubs, grain clubs, poultry clubs, potato clubs, and in the home economics field, food and clothing clubs.

Halton County was represented by Five Club Teams in all and while they brought home no major honors, all made an excellent showing particularly so in view of the very limited amount of special training received preparatory to these competitions.

In the dairy cattle competition, 51 Club teams judged four classes of dairy cattle and gave oral reasons for their placings on each. They also answered orally ten questions pertaining to feeding and management of dairy cattle, marketing, dairy cattle diseases, etc. In short, it was a long hard day for the competitors and judges alike, and this competition which started at 9.00 a.m., did not conclude until well after 6.00 p.m.

The Championship in this project which was won by a Halton team last year went to a Peel County team composed of Clark Lyons of Norval, and Ralph Dunton of Brampton, with a score of 1069 out of a possible 1200. Stuart Alexander of Georgetown, and Geo. Burkholder of Freeman, representing the Milton Holstein and Ayrshire Calf Club, were in fifth position with a score of 1068. The high man was Clark Lyons with a score of 555, with Stuart Alexander, Halton's high competitor, with 551.

The Beef competition with 25 teams in action, was won by a South Simcoe Club team with a score of 1022, while Garnet Norrish and Alex Buchanan representing the Halton Calf Club were in ninth place with 975. The Acton Calf Club team, composed of Ray Everdell and Bill Patterson, scored 879. Thirty-eight Club teams faced the wire in the Grain Club project. The championship here went to a York County team with a score of 1103. Sam Harrop and John Currie, both of Esquesing township, representing the Milton Grain Club were in sixth position and the Acton Grain Club team of Ron Hensley and Clarence Reid were eleventh.

The Swine Club Trophy which was won by a Halton team in 1946 this year went to Elgin County while a Leeds team won the poultry project honours and Welland County the honours in the Potato project.

In home economics a pair of Perth County young ladies topped the Clothing Project, and Middlesex the Clothing Project. The winning teams will now represent Ontario in the inter-provincial competitions to be held at the Royal Winter Fair next month. Rural Ontario will wish them well in this friendly battle of provincial champions.

COURT SENTENCES INCONSISTENT

Gilbert and Sullivan's Mikado sang of his "subject all subjects to let the punishment fit the crime"; and most Canadians answering a Financial Post questionnaire, share this view. They state that if there is a seeming disparity between the severity of sentences imposed in Canadian courts, this is because judges attempt to deal with every case on its individual merits. The majority approved of this method. A few suggested that if reform was required, it should be given by ensuring that men of proper ability, training and understanding, are appointed to the Bench.

The Tonic of Many Minds

By Joseph Lister Rutledge
The autocrat, by the very definition and finally of his powers, has unquestioned advantages. Free from the necessity of consulting the opinions of others, he can move promptly and with decision. He can get things done. Unfortunately, while promptness is one of the virtues, it may easily be associated with wrongs and injustices and tyrannies. That is the record of all autocracies.

Democracy, with its innumerable checks and balances, is a lumbering system. Slow, often overcautious and frequently inefficient, it must base its claim on the end results. For all its pedestrian character, it has made for freedom and a larger and broader opportunity.

The reason is that, when a state or an individual becomes the arbitrary deviser, determiner and administrator, initiative becomes limited to the capacity of a few minds. Through their very absolutism these minds tend to become frozen into a set pattern. That is what the planners are asking us to accept.

What is the alternative? In Canada there are close to a quarter million separate enterprises outside our main business of agriculture. Each can only survive through its ability to render its own individual service. There are 160,000 wholesale and retail establishments, some 26,000 manufacturing enterprises, and another thirty or forty thousand individual undertakings in mines and power stations, lumbering operations, fisheries and canning plants and transportation systems. We have over 700,000 business enterprises in agriculture.

In close to a million such undertakings there are a million opportunities for innovation and experiment and development. These opportunities are there because, inherent in their very individuality, is the power to authorize these experiments and innovations. Operating under a million separate budgets, controlled by a million different managers, initiative cannot die. Competition develops new services or qualities or products to appeal to a wider public. This is the price of survival. Can any system, limited to the direction of a few minds, hope to achieve the drive, the initiative, the imagination and adventure that opens new vistas of accomplishment and progress? We know it can't. These qualities are the product of a million minds able to experiment, to profit, and to progress.

Under government supervision, and in defiance of former parent arranged marriages, Japan held a marriage fair, where domestic-minded single folk went in search of desirable mates.

ALMOST ENOUGH HOUSES?

Prices and demand in many of the larger cities certainly do not suggest that the housing shortage is over. However, remarks the Financial Post editorially, government statistics warn that if we are not actually approaching the saturation point in houses, then at least we are nearer to it than has been the case for many years.

Recently published census tables showed that by mid-1948 there was a house or self-contained apartment for every 4.3 persons in Canada, lowest figure since the census started to include such statistics at the turn of the century.

This may mean that throughout Canada as a whole we are getting close to the point where the housing supply can be termed normal. That is something those contemplating paying long prices for residential property would be well advised to keep in mind. They and others, too, should realize that the change from "not enough" to "enough" can come pretty quickly. When there are 11 buyers for every 10 houses the market is brisk and rising, but add one more house to that supply and there is a tremendous difference.
