ROCKWOOD

Last Tuesday evening, a candle-light service was held at St. John's Church which was well attended. As the choir approached the platform, each two who carried candles knelt while the Rector, Rev. W. G. Luxton placed them on the altar then returned to their seats. During the service, at intervals, Miss Pat Linfoot read portions which referred to the choir's Christmas number, "His Star" which was quite impressive throughout.

Wednesday evening, the annual school concert was held in the Town Hall and largely attended by the parents and friends of the scholars. Mr. Dave Armstrong, the principal, was chairman for the program, which was well carried out by the young folks with Master Bruce Hosking at the piano for the opening number. The program commenced with a welcome song, followed by a few Christmas carols, under the direction of Mrs. D. Armstrong. Some of the highlights of the program were accordion selections by Louis Mampney; flashlight drill by girls of the Sr. room; rhythm band selections with Master Dave Benham at the piano; wreath drill by Junior girls with Master David Maltby at piano; cornet solo by Margaret Duby with Grace Sockett at piano; piano duet by Bunny Waller and Kay Ballinger; Pantomime by four Senior girls in uniform; "Silent Night" accompanied by Glee Club; Recitation Message from Santa followed by his appearance in person at the conclusion of the program and ably assisted by school staff in distribution of gifts to pupils of each room in turn. During the program Mrs. Jack Oakes, a former member of the school staff handed out prizes in connection with recent Field Day sports.

The school staff, Mr. Dave Armstrong, Miss M. Reid and Miss McKinnon deserve credit for the successful concert as well as including Mrs. D. Armstrong who took an important part in assisting for the concert.

Thursday evening, the congregation of the Presbyterian Church held a supper in the basement of the Church, and also for the Sunday School scholars which was well attended. Following the supper, an adjourned to the auditorium for an evening program.

Through the kindness of a couple of out-of-town gentlemen, a moving picture show was enjoyed with the first film dealing with Christmas hymns. Other films which followed were of a comic variety, such as Hot Sands; Early Bird Gets the Worm; Night Before Christmas; "Boy" Fred Williamson was chairman for the evening, but owing to leaving for Guelph, Mr. Albert Gray took over the remainder of the Program, which was followed by Santa Claus putting in his appearance to the delight of the young folks and assisted in distribution of the numerous gifts. Everyone went home happy after a pleasant evening together.

Christmas morning a service was held at St. John's Church. During the service, Holy Communion was observed. Sunday afternoon, the regular service was held with the choir rendering short selections and Rev. W. G. Luxton addressing the congregation.

In connection with Christmas services in other Churches, the choir rendered special numbers in keeping with the Christmas spirit.

The Christmas Day passed off quietly here. Family gatherings enjoying social affairs. Mr. Loxton's presence was noted as usual on account of being in Guelph.

CAMPBELLVILLE

The young adult group of St. David's Church presented a very fine candle-lighting service in the Church on Sunday evening with Mrs. Beech and Mrs. Greenlees in charge. The meeting opened by singing Christmas carols. Mrs. Greenlees conducted the candle-lighting service when seven young girls walked in slowly carrying lighted candles from which they lighted several other representative candles. Mr. Hartley Anderson played Ave Maria on the violin. Mr. Wm. Bryant read a short story on the Manger in Bethlehem. Mr. Colin Anderson of Milton gave a trumpet solo; The Holy City; Mr. R. B. Elliot read the story of the Wise Men; The men of the choir sang, "We three Kings of Orient Are"; Mr. George Goldstraw gave a violin selection, "Adoration".

Mrs. Beech read the story of Simeon with the child Jesus in the Temple. Mrs. Hartley Anderson sang, "The Lord's Prayer". Three carols were sung and the meeting closed with Rev. J. C. MacNell pronouncing the Benediction.

Mrs. L. Crawford and Mrs. Geo. Goldstraw were accompanists for the evening and the choir led the singing.

Christmas festivities played an important part in the lives of the younger and older folk of this community, during the Christmas season and credit goes to Mr. Murray McPhail, who was chairman for the St. David's Sunday School concert; Mr. George Michie who planned the S.S. No. 10 School concert; and to Mr. William Bryant, who arranged the S.S. No. 1 concert.
