Will Farmers Reshape History?

In Britain, America, France, Canada and many other lands a rising tide of farmers is becoming fired with conviction and passion in the selfless service of mankind, believing that in so doing they can unite the nations and reshape history.

This is the story of Billy Wake, a Saskatchewan farmer, who recently attended the Food and Agricultural Organization in Geneva. He said in part, "When I went from England to farm in Canada 35 years ago, I went to make $30,000 I didn't care for the land. I didn't think of its purpose other than its ability to give me what I was after. The kind of farming that resulted from this attitude was hard on the soil. When the drought and the winds came, it blew away, and so did my hopes of $30,000. As a result I became bitter, blamed other classes of society and was a divisive influence in my community.

"It was at this time when I had no money or fun, no vision for the future and was full of frustration and moral defeat that I met people who confronted me with four simple standards by which to measure my life. As I compared my life with the absolute standards of honesty, purity, unselfishness and love, I began to see how far I had gotten from my true destiny as a farmer.

"I decided to be different and this decision revolutionized my living. I saw, with my brothers, that we owed restitution to the land for the way we had farmed. We went short of clothing during the very hard times to buy fertilizing machinery. We went in for raising cattle and pigs besides wheat, though it meant harder work. We rotated our crops with grass because it was better for the land and because we saw that we could not only feed the people of this generation, but pass on the land in a condition capable of feeding future generations."

BURLINGTON

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Estaminet on Thursday evening last a discussion took place on the coming postal delivery for Burlington, and the Secretary was instructed to write the Post Office Department inviting them to confer with the Chamber the matter of mail delivery for the town.

Burlington, Nelson and Aldershot have all called nobly to the Red Cross appeal this month. Contributions in greater numbers than any time since the war days continue to be received. The total as of Tuesday morning is $2,722.00. It is now ahead of last year on the day and bidding well to hit the $3,000 mark by week-end.

Proof of the public need and desire for an artificial ice arena and Burlington District Recreational Centre is amply shown in the support the project is already receiving from residents of Nelson, East Flamboro and Burlington. A little more than an idea a few weeks ago the building of a District Recreational Centre has already advanced to the campaign planning stage and at a meeting held in the Lions club hall on Friday evening last tentative dates for the campaign were set as April 15th to May 15th. —Gazette

PAINT RETARDER FLAME

Fire-retardant paint and coating that's non-toxic, is result of 12 years research, states The Financial Post. Paint is said easy to handle, can be applied directly from original container by brush or spray gun. Tests show that paint generates no smoke or toxic gases when attacked by fire, when unpainted lumber is treated with product, wood can withstand a 2,000 deg. F. blow torch for 30 minutes without any flame spread.

C.N.R. DERAILMENT LAST WEEK

Neither passengers or train crew were injured when a train on the Hamilton-Allandale Line left the tracks near Terra Cotta. The train including a baggage car, mail car and coach is shown here after it tore up 200 yards of track. C.N.R. officials were of the opinion that the train was derailed either by the swaying of the coaches in rounding a curve or by soft spots in the road bed. Picture by courtesy of Hamilton Spectator

More Milk Higher Quality

Foster Milking increases milk yield... you get all the milk as... milking; you keep milk production high throughout lactation. Here are two exclusive CO-OP Universal features that make machine milking faster... simpler:

CALF-NOSE IMULATIONS—patented off-center openings do away with "crawling," eliminate need for stripping with but rare exceptions. Large size accommodates flow of easy milkers as well as hard milkers.

CALF-NOSE CLAW—originally designed, it places heavier milking action where it is needed—on the heavier milking rear quarters. Then all four quarters finish milking at approximately the same time.

PLUS Protected Low Vacuum CO-OP Universal MB-ers milk fast and efficiently on only 10 to 11 inches of vacuum... controlled and protected by a weight-type relief valve and a mercury-column vacuum gauge.

Remember, too, there is a CO-OP Universal Milker to best fit your individual needs. Only your co-operative fully-equipped CO-OP Universal Division makes a complete line of milking machines: Standard Calf-Nose Milkers... Short-Tube Milkers... Floor and Track-Type Portable Milkers.
