Deaths

TURNER — At the home, R.R. #4, Acton, on Tuesday June 21st, 1942, Mary Anne Barnes, beloved wife of James W. Turner, R.R. 4, Acton, passed away on Tuesday, June 21st aged 67 years. She had been an invalid for the past fourteen years and was a native of Durham, Eng. land.

Besides her husband she leaves to survive her four daughters: Mrs. Harry Farmer, R.R. 4, Acton; Mrs. Fred Fryer, Mt. Dennis, Mrs. Robt Symes, Fairbanks, Toronto, Mrs. Victor Leonard, Weston.

The funeral was held this afternoon with service at the home conducted by Rev. Mr. Calder, minister of Limehouse Presbyterian Church.

Interment was in Fairview Cemetery, Acton, on Monday afternoon.

IN MEMORIAM

INGLES — In sad and loving memory of our dear dad, Ernest Albert Ingles, who passed away so suddenly, June 25th, 1942.

In our hearts your memory lingers. Always tender, fond and true. There is not a day, dear dad, That we do not think of you.

Radiantly missed by his daughter, Dorothy and son-in-law, Ted.

INGLES — In loving memory of my dear dad and grandad, Ernest Albert Ingles, who was instantly killed June 25th, 1942.

The world may change from year to year, And friends from day to day. But never will the one we loved From memory pass away.

Always remembered by his daughter, Dorothy, and grandchild, Wayne and Gavie.

INGLES — In ever loving memory of my dear dad and grandad, Ernest Albert Ingles, who passed away June 25th, 1942.

I have lost my soul's companion, A life linked with my own. And day by day I miss him more. As I walk through life alone When the shades of night are falling.

And the setting all alone. There comes that lonely feeling If only Ernie could come home. Sadly missed by his lonely wife, Luella and children.

Dr. Bell's opinions expressed in the article are based on his experience and clinical impressions after 25 years study and treatment of alcoholics. He describes ethyl alcohol as "the safest, most readily available and most palatable anaesthetic that we have" and states that there are indications that within another generation the incidence of alcoholism could be doubled.

"Sensible temperate drinking habits should be established now in a practical and common sense fashion" and education and public outlets to facilitate these should be established," he writes.

The study of any alcoholic patient in Canada may begin with his alcohol background, ancestry and number of generations, his family has lived in this country," Dr. Bell writes. "The number of generations in Canada is important in that the efforts of parents to produce Europeans in a Canadian setting usually result in early childhood maladjustment. Such maladjustment could be a factor in the production of alcoholism in first and second generation New Canadians."

He goes on to say that the alcoholic who has developed his illness through predominantly psychological factors has reached this destination via the following route. Plagued by feelings of inadequacy, inferiority, fear, depression or resentment in his daily life he has tried to cure himself by alleviating his symptoms with the use of an anaesthetic alcohol.

Dr. Bell writes that there appear to be many relatively stable people who have become alcoholic through the combined effect of a constitutional factor and exposure to social situations conducive to repetitive intoxication, or possibly to social situations alone. These people become alcoholics through lack of knowledge of the cumulative effect of repeated over-indulgence in alcoholic beverages, rather than through instability. Other social situations conducive to repetitive intoxication are encountered in certain types of business life.

"Neither beer nor distilled spirits can produce alcoholism unless they are used often enough and ingested rapidly enough to produce the repetitive intoxication that results in alcoholism," Dr. Bell states.

REMOVES PAINT

An electric paint remover whose action resembles that of a flat iron, lifts and softens paint which is then removed with a metal scraper or wire brush, is reported in The Financial Post. It may be used indoors or out, will work on curved and irregular surfaces as well as on that surfaces. Connecticut maker states. Weighs just over 1 lb. including electric cord. A heavy gauge shield of steel on top prevents accidental contact with the hot metal base while, also acts as reinforcement for added strength.

Besides her husband she leaves to survive her four daughters: Mrs. Harry Farmer, R.R. 4, Acton; Mrs. Fred Fryer, Mt. Dennis, Mrs. Robt Symes, Fairbanks, Toronto, Mrs. Victor Leonard, Weston.

THE JUNE MEETING HAS LARGE VARIETY OF FEATURES

The June meeting of the Scotch Block WI met at the home of Mrs. D. Lawson on June 7th, the president presiding. The regular business was conducted. Mrs. C. Service read a paper which was read at the Officer's Conference, entitled "The Qualities of an Ideal Institute Member". Miss Eva Chisholm read an article on meat and what value it was to our bodies. Our annual picnic is to be held on July 14th at the Community Park in Lowville. The golf, tennis, badminton, handcrafts, which may be farm women's income labor was responded to by the members.

Mrs. B. Love read a paper "Our Canadian Beaver" which was very interesting. Mrs. T. Marsh gave a demonstration on smoking, which was very well done. Mrs. E. Gibbons conducted a contest which was won by Miss Murray. Mrs. G. Hardy conducted a draw, each one putting in 50, amounting to $170. Mrs. Currie won the parcel. We had some music by Miss Betty Lawton, which was enjoyed by all. The National Anthem brought a very enjoyable afternoon to a close after which lunch was served.

But in thinking in general terms, often the particular is overlooked. The farmer who on his own farm diversifies what may be only a trifle today, may prevent a steady stream tomorrow. Changing a contour, grassing a water course, planting a few trees, half a hundred small and inexpensive operations, done in time, contribute to the overall program of soil conservation.

In the final analysis, the only asset of a farm is the soil. If the soil becomes unproductive, the farm is useless. The soil cannot be too well cared for, and part of that care is
