NASSAGAWEYA

No 7 district has been the centre of excitement for the past several weeks. It started when police called searching for two thieves who had entered, ransacked and stolen $500 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jones, Lot 17, Con. 7, on Saturday morning. We later learned that one of the men was Phillip Forbes, well-known to old timers of No 7.

Last Tuesday evening a car containing four young people struck loose gravel when making the turn on the first jog coming from Speyside along Con. 6 and turned over. One girl received a cut on the forehead that required five stitches and a boy received a crushed arm. They were given first aid by a Doctor from Milton at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kennedy and were then taken to Milton hospital. The car was towed home the next day.

On Saturday last, the kitchen roof at Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Coxe's caught fire. It was quickly extinguished but not before several holes had been burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harlow missed one of their cows on Thursday morning and did not find her until Saturday evening. She was found in the bush land of Mr. G. Job. As she was milking, greater concern was felt on her disappearance.

Master David Howden, R. R. 5, Milton enjoyed some holidays at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kennedy.

Mrs. Alexander Frank has sold her home on Lot E, Con. 6 and the new owners are moving in.

LIMEHOUSE

Electrical storms have been few in our neighborhood this year but those we did have have been felt. S. M. Wright had his radio damaged when lightning entered by way of an aerial some time ago. Both hydro and telephone suffered at the farm of Rae Scott on Saturday evening when the electric stove and iron were among appliances damaged. Bob Brown, fourth line received a slight shock when electricity seemed to come from the water pipes in the village. Both telephone lines in the village were out of commission on Sunday and Monday.

Anna Spitzer spent the past week in London.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman McKenry are holidaying this week at North Bay.

Friends were saddened to learn of the sudden passing on Monday afternoon of Mrs. Andrew Bapine. Although not feeling very well for a day or so previously, her death came very unexpectedly. Sincere sympathy is extended her daughter, Mrs. John King (Aggie) and son, Fred.

Nearly 50 varieties of meat and meat products, ranging from cooked meats to whole hams, are now packed in metal cans the American Can Company reports.

FASHION NOTE FROM BRITAIN

Milliners in Britain are keeping a sharp eye on social trends today. They know, for instance, that the present day coat of a "white wedding" results in more and more girls choosing a dress or a suit with a suitable hat—which they can wear later on. With this in view the designers are planning attractive hats especially for brides, bridesmaids, mothers and guests. White remains a favorite bridal color, but floral trimming is kept to a minimum since the bride will carry real flowers; instead, lace, lovely ribbon, even sometimes exquisite feathers are used. The bridesmaids, of course, must wear smaller and less important hats than the brides, so little caps or cloches are a popular choice. A little Juliet cap covered in tiny velvet flowers and finished with a mist of veiling is a favorite because it is useful for theatre or party wear later on.

The "flints" used in cigarette lighters are not real flint, but an alloy of cerium and iron produced by an electro-metallurgical process.

WATCH THE MILK

Most housewives know the result of leaving the morning milk too long on the doorstep during hot weather—it goes sour. But perhaps not so many know that even left for short periods, if in direct sunshine, reduces the riboflavin content of the milk quite considerably. Riboflavin is one of the essential vitamins so necessary for good health.

Sometimes the milk cannot be taken in immediately, and in these circumstances it is a good plan to have a covered box into which the milkman can place the bottles.
