BRITAIN'S OVERSEAS TRADE IN FIRST HALF OF 1949

The United Kingdom exported close on $3,568 million of produce in the first six months of this year an increase of $592 million on the corresponding period of 1948. Her imports in the first half of this year had a total value approximately $4,480 million—$376 million more than in the first half of last year.

All groups of manufactured goods with two exceptions—footwear and rubber goods—shared in the export increase. The biggest increase was in vehicles, cotton yarns and manufactures and machinery, these three groups between them accounting for more than $384 million worth of almost ten per cent of the United Kingdom's total exports. These figures are included in the overseas trade returns for June published by the Board of Trade.

Obituary

MRS. AUGUST ANDERSON Resident of Acton and highly respected citizen for thirty-five years, Mrs. August Anderson passed away early Thursday morning after a lengthy illness. She was in her 76th year.

Born in Waterloo County Lavina Snider was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Snider. About thirty-five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Anderson came to Acton to reside with their family. Her husband predeceased her six years ago and this year Mrs. Anderson's health necessitated selling her home on Church Street and going to Toronto to reside with her daughter.

Surviving are one son, Clarence O. Guelph; one daughter, Mrs. Helen Greenwood, Toronto and one sister, Mrs. Hiram Eby (Mrs. Ida) of Kitchener and two grandchildren. One brother, Harvey and one sister, Naomi (Mrs. Archie Hallman), both of Kitchener, predeceased her. Mrs. Anderson was a neighbor and friend whose kindness and thoughtfulness can be attested by many. She was always bright and cheerful in spite of her illness and many friends here will miss her and join with the family in sympathy in their bereavement. Mrs. Anderson was a member of the United Church and when health permitted, found much joy in attendance at its services.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon from the Victor B. Rumley Funeral Home here. The service was conducted by a former minister Rev. A. W. Fosbury, now of Hanover, owing to the illness of Rev. L. Pickering. Interment was at Fairview Cemetery, Acton.

Whole Grain, Mash Test for Poultry

Dry mash and whole grain form the basis of standard rations for laying poultry during both summer and winter. The plan usually followed is to supply a well-balanced mash in a self-feeder and allow the birds access to this feed continuously. Too generous feeding of whole grain is commonly considered dangerous from the standpoint of causing laying stock to become overly fat and consequently increasing the death rate. Supplying approximately fifty per cent by weight of the ration in the form of dry mash, and fifty per cent by weight in the form of whole grain, has been considered good feeding practice.

A series of five feeding tests using a total of almost two thousand pullets was undertaken at the Dominion Experimental Farm, at Brandon, Man., says R. M. Hopper, the Superintendent, to determine the effect, if any, upon laying pullets, of increasing the proportion of whole grain fed in the ration. The dry mash used in the tests was made up of ground home-grown grains, together with the essential protein, mineral and vitamin supplements. The whole grain mixture was made up of wheat, oats, and barley in the proportions respectively of two, one, one. Each of the five tests was continued for a period of eleven months. The percentages by weight of whole grain used in the three test rations were sixty, seventy and eighty. With each of the rations, dry mash made up the balance.

In the first four tests, the amount of meat meal included in the mash was increased for the pen of birds fed rations that included seventy or eighty per cent of whole grain. This was done to ensure the intake of protein being approximately equal for birds consuming the different rations, and that there was no milk for drink. The performance of the birds consuming different proportions of mash and whole grain in these four tests, as measured by the number of eggs laid, mortality rate, pounds of feed consumed per pound of eggs laid, and the effect upon body weight of the birds, showed only small differences.

In the fifth test the rations supplied were the same as those in the first four, excepting that no buttermilk was supplied and the amount of meat meal in the mash was not increased for the birds consuming the larger proportions of whole grain. In this test, the protein intake of the different groups of test birds was not equalized. The results of this test showed there was no difference in mortality rate caused by the two rations and that there was no appreciable effect upon egg production nor the other factors of economic importance in poultry keeping.

The results of this series of feeding tests indicate that rations that include the essential ingredients to maintain the health of the flock and support high egg production may be satisfactorily supplied in varying proportions of whole grain and mash.

There are more than 125 tree species in Canada, of which 33 are conifers, commonly called "softwoods".

THE ISMOND-BROWN WEDDING AT NORVAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Norval Presbyterian Church, beautifully decorated with pink and white gladioli, was the setting for the marriage of Margaret Alma, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leyter Brown, to Mr. Donald John Ismond, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ismond. Rev. J. N. McPaul of Oakville, officiated and Mrs. John C. Harston was at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush satin, with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long fitted sleeves. The flared skirt fell in a slight train and her full-length veil was held with a coronet of pearls. She carried red roses and wore the groom's gift, a pearl necklace.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Brown, as maid of honor wearing dusty rose taffeta, and Miss Mary Ismond, sister of the groom, in pastel green, and wearing the bride's gifts, gold pendants. Their gowns were made alike with bouffant skirts and puff sleeves; their hats were of matching net and flowers and they carried bouquets of gladioli.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Bruce Ismond, and the ushers were Mr. George Ismond, brother of the groom and Mr. Tom Snow, cousin of the bride. Mr. Stuart McFadden, cousin of the bride, sang, "O Perfect Love, before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The reception was held in the church parlors with the bride's mother receiving, wearing burgundy crepe, black accessories and corsage of red roses, assisted by the groom's mother, in powder blue crepe, navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Six cousins of the bride, Misses Marion Carruthers, Muriel Moffatt, Stella Snow, Beatie Snow, Sarah Early and Mary Marshall served refreshments to about sixty guests. The tables were beautifully decorated with four tiered wedding cake tall white candles and pink and white gladioli.

Later the happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Ottawa, and points east. For travelling the bride wore a wine gingham suit, black accessories and a grey shawl coat.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm at Hillsburgh. Previous to her marriage the bride was tendered a shower of gifts by the members of Norval Presbyterian Church, and a presentation by the choir of which she and the groom were members.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wilson entertained at a community shower and the many and beautiful gifts spoke of the high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held.

Rain or Shine, A Coat to Keep You Pretty and Dry!

Mackenzie News Next Tuesday the voters of Acton decide whether we are progressive or not. We are making a prediction that the voters will say yes in this matter but votes for the cause should not stay at home as it will not be an easy victory. The hay crop was short but farmer chaps helped themselves by larger plantings of corn. We have made arrangements to have folders describing the building of a temporary silo with snow fence and Sislercraft paper. We carry snow fence, and posts at all times so come in and settle what to do with that extra corn. See you at the midnite dance at Acton Park Pavilion, Sunday, September 4th, 1949. J. R.
