about As you know, milk under suits you hest. certain circumstances, will thicken and exparate into two different substances—whey and curd Choose is the rurd of milk and can be eaten as is, or it can be treated and ripened into a surprising number of varieties. Ose of the new species of curd to people in Ontario is in the form of Yoghourt or Omega.

Four hundred different names for cheese does not mean that there are four hundred different varieties There are about 18 basic types of cheese which crop up under a variety of names both in the same country and in other countries Italian Gorgonzola, English Stilton and Danish Blue were the first blue mold cheeses but now there are others. To add to the confusion different cheese manufacturers sell their own cheese under a variety of brand names though they may be very much alike However cheese is cheese and it is all made | 7 from milk To make cheese the milk is time teurized, the cheesemaker adds a "starter" in order to get the right amount of acidity, then the rennet is added to make the milk curdle When the milk has curdled the art of the cheesemaker really begins though he has to know all about the "starter" and the type of rennet. Curd knives are used to cut the mixture evenly and the whey is drained off before it is put into molds. One method of salting the cheese is rubbing the perforated mold with salt. The cheese is then ripened by bacteria and molds This sounds queer until you remember that there are many helpful and necessary bacteria in other founds as well as in cheese. The temperature time and atmosphere must be just right for finishing the

The majority of the cheese made in Canada is Cheddar which is what people mean when they ask for plain cheese. It was first made in the village of Cheddar England as a white cheese. Now we use a vellow vegetable colouring to please the public We could tell you a lot more about the types of foreign cheese but instead we shall try to describe the difference between natural process cheese, cheese food and cheese spreads. The natural kind has been previously described while process cheese is blending of a number of cheeses of different age to achieve the desired blend for flavour and texture People seem to like the blandness and the absence of the rind Cheese food is a processed mixture from cheddar with cream, non-fat solids and mineral salts added to it. It melts easily and keeps well.

There are a great many cheese
