

Milton Loses Two To Fort Erie Team

Although word is still expected as to the outcome of a protest lodged by Milton, the season seems to have ended for the Co-ops. Last Thursday night in Fort Erie, about 2300 fans saw Milton drop 4-3 in a sparkling game. Shorthanded due to penalties, the Milton team played a splendid defensive game.

The most spectacular goal was by Freddie Kentner, who stepped from the penalty box, picked up the puck and shot it without tangling with any Erie players.

On Saturday's game, Co-ops realized again they were up against an outstanding goalie in Fort Erie's Zimmerman. They had few clear chances as the Erie team determinedly back-checked and the final score was 5-3.

AGRICULTURAL ESCAPE

The farmer had just finished spreading a load of particularly evil-smelling fertilizer.

"Will that stuff really stimulate plant growth?" a visitor from the city asked.

"Can't say for sure," was the thoughtful answer. "I've been putting it on like this year after year but I've never been able to figure out whether it actually stimulates things or whether it's just so downright repulsive that they try their best to grow away from it."

Former Jeweller, Reeve Identified

A former reeve of Acton and a jeweller here, George Hynds was the man pictured as unidentified last week. While word was gratefully received from quite a few as to his identity, Fred Crewson of West Flamboro wrote us an anecdote he recalls concerning himself and the late George Hynds.

"I remember taking a watch to him to have it repaired," he wrote. Evidently Mr. Crewson gave him a two dollar bill and Mr. Hynds, looking in the till, laid a five dollar bill on the counter. Without touching it, Mr. Crewson asked pointedly if the bill were his. Mr. Hynds took a second look - and also a second look at the customer. "He always remembered me after that," said Mr. Crewson.

In the same letter Mr. Crewson wrote that he had also recognized the recently published photograph of Hon. David Henderson. "I will never forget the election in 1911," he said.

It was the first year he had a vote and Sir Wilfred Laurier was defeated. "Hon. David Henderson spoke at a garden party at Crewson's Corners in Erin Township. I thought he had no right to speak out of his jurisdiction because at that time I thought there were only Grits in Erin."

"I got my eyes opened in 1917 when Hugh Guthrie came out on the Tory side and was elected. I knew then there were more Tories than Grits."

"But lying all jokes aside, Davy was a fine gentleman."

"Hoping again to recall some pleasant memories of when the older people were a part of 'the younger generation' themselves, another picture from the album of Acton's history is published for identification.

Do you remember him?"

TRIPLE T TOPICS

Well, the Y was really hopping last Friday night.

As we promised, it turned out to be a gala event with an attendance of about 150. The club was honored by receiving guests from three other clubs, Milton, Guelph and Fergus. Milton sent the most representatives but all turned out to be perfect guests and good sports.

The club would like to thank Mr. Somerville and Mr. Turner for generously donating hay to distribute around the dance floor. The hay was placed all around the dance floor, some baled and some loose, for people to sit down and talk to their friends. Later in the evening it became very dusty after having Schottisches and Paul Jones dances which are always favorites. We were glad we received no complaints about people suffering from hay fever or plugged noses on account of so much dust.

There were numerous activities carried out all night and it's very hard to describe them all in this column but we will do our best. There were two spot dances, an elimination dance, a treasure hunt, and the special feature at lunch time was the Hafferman brothers from Toronto, who put on an amateur musical show on their own.

The first spot dance was won by Chuck Bundy of Milton and Mary Carmie of Norval. The second spot was won by Ronald Coleman, Acton and Joan Trimble of Milton. The elimination dance was won by Ted Tyler, Acton and Frances Cascard of Norval.

The feature novelty was the treasure hunt in which 10 people volunteered to enter. These people were sent out with a list of items to obtain by knocking on citizens' doors and asking for them. These people were divided into two teams with Helen-Somerville and Norm Turner as captains. To give you an idea what they were up against, we will give you a list of some of the things they had to ask for. They were: a tooth brush, a picture of George (any George), three sheets of toilet paper, old comic book, paper cup and most anything that came to the council's mind.

Speaking of anything they had to bring a suitable object that would pass for "The Thing" and the person or team who thought of the best would receive an individual prize. The winning team was Helen Somerville's with Joan Trimble, Keith Akins, Mary Dillow (all of Milton) and Betty Lawson as her team mates. Norm Turner thought of the most suitable object for "The Thing" and received the special prize. He presented the Teen Town with a large wooden box and said "Inside the box is 'The Thing'." When he opened the box, out jumped Arni Thorarinson. Of course, the council gave Norm his prize immediately and cleared the floor for more dancing.

All in all, one could not describe the shindig in this column - a person would have to be at that last dance in the Y to understand what was beneath those gleaming eyes and smiling faces.

Yes, it was the best dance we have ever had at the Y. Just because it was the last dance at the Y, don't forget the Triple T Club. Remember there is a dance at the Town Hall this Friday night!

The council would like to thank the Free Press for printing this column each week during the past season. We hope you have enjoyed reading it as much as we have enjoyed writing it. Until next season - Adios.

YOUTHFUL 70

Oliver Wendell Holmes, a Justice of the United States Supreme Court in the last century, was a perfect example of the truth of the statement, "You're only as old as you feel." At the age of 92, he was out walking one day when an extremely pretty young woman passed him on the street. Turning to gaze admiringly at the trim figure, the old gentleman sighed wistfully, "Oh, to be seventy again!"

Quincy is the formation of an abscess in the tissues around the tonsil.

directly connected with motor traffic will help to keep our accident deaths well below even their pre-war average," Mr. Doucett states.

In addition to Ontario drivers on the highways, Mr. Doucett said there were 4,500,000 U.S. visitors on our highways during the year and thousands more drove here from other provinces.

Maximum efforts to reduce accidents must be made soon on a national and provincial scale, the Minister said.

"Traffic safety is everybody's business," Mr. Doucett declared.

Caution, Education Reduce Fatalities

Traffic accidents in Ontario in 1950 took a toll of 792 lives, compared with 830 in 1949. Highways Minister George Doucett states, pointing out that 1950 highway traffic was the heaviest on record. The lower death rate, only bright spot in an otherwise dark picture, when coupled with final figures may show marked increase in the number of accidents, persons injured and property damage loss, estimated at over $10 million.

Number of licensed drivers in Ontario has jumped from 1,276,584 to 1,365,000; there were 1,100,000 registered vehicles on the highways, 130,000 more than in 1949, travelling approximately 0.3 billion miles.

"Our present traffic volume which is still increasing rapidly has enormous potential killing power," Mr. Doucett stated.

Sixty-three children between 5 and 14 years were among those killed in the first nine months, an increase of 6 over 1949; in other age groups the toll was down. Final figures may show 34,000 accidents during the year and 15,000 injured most accidents occurring during daylight.

"We review the 1951 accident outlook with very guarded optimism," Mr. Doucett stated. "Nothing but a most determined effort backed by all can keep our losses down."

Plans are being made to increase the department's safety program during this year, stepping up its flow of literature to schools, homes and police forces.

"We must reduce this awful, needless slaughter and waste due to traffic accidents," Mr. Doucett said. "From the standpoint of national preparedness, it is also necessary that this waste of human resources and vital equipment be reduced."

Better ways and means of cutting the accident toll are being found by the Highways Department, but since most mishaps are caused by human errors, education of drivers and pedestrians is still the biggest weapon.

THREE LEGGED CHICK HATCHED LAST THURSDAY ON FARM AT CAMPBELLVILLE

A three-legged chick was hatched last week on the poultry farm of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dredge, R.R. 1, Campbellville. The baby freak was discovered in a flock of 675 hatched out - last Thursday night. The little rooster is finding its third leg more of a nuisance than an asset, since it juts out of the thigh of his left leg.

Mr. Dredge, who has been in the poultry business for the past 11 years, says that although he has raised approximately 10,000 chicks each year this is the first one he has found with three legs.
