Ladies' Aid Re-elect Executive for 1953

The November meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. J. K. Mahon recently. The president, Mrs. W. Roberts, opened the meeting with a poem, "Unanswered Plea."

Mrs. E. J. McPhail offered prayer and Mrs. R. Elliott read the Psalm. The roll call was answered by naming "a place important in the news and why."

Reports were received from the secretary, treasurer and cheer secretary. The birthday song was sung for one of the members. Several items of business were discussed and approved.

The executive were re-appointed for the year 1953. The offering was dedicated by Mrs. W. Greenleaf.

Mrs. E. D. Mahon then took the chair for the following program. A singing of a hymn was followed by a reading of "The Inventor's Wife," given by Mrs. C. Black. A "Snow" contest followed. Miss E. Simpson then gave an interesting and informative talk on the Bible Society records, "What a Little Boy Is" and "What a Little Girl Is." Mrs. Roberts then closed the meeting with the singing of a hymn and prayer by Mrs. R. Hurren. A social period followed, which all enjoyed.

The fall thanksgiving, meeting of Grace Mission Band was held at the home of Beverley Roberts on Friday evening.

Anita Smith opened the meeting with the call to worship. A hymn was sung and prayer given by Margaret McPhail. The scripture lesson was read by Lois Inglish. Mrs. Menzies gave a commentary on the verses read dwelling on the preservation of the life of the baby Moses and the cause for Thanksgiving found in the story. She pointed out the fact that working together with God brings forth wonderful results.

After a hymn was sung, Rev. Sutherland gave a very interesting talk to the girls on the true meaning of Thanksgiving, separating the word to thanks and offering.

Many helpful thoughts were brought out which are sometimes overlooked in our everyday blessings. While the offering was being received, the little song, "Hear the pennies dropping" was sung, followed by the dedication prayer.

The birthday song was sung for three members.

The leader, Mrs. Wallace, read a letter of appreciation for the balance in September. After the roll call, Lois Greenleaf and Donna Mitchell sang, unaccompanied, "Father We Thank Thee." The meeting was closed with prayer by Sandra Turner.

The hostess, assisted by three members, served a lovely lunch which all enjoyed.

Give Year Reports At Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Senior Women's Missionary Auxiliary of Knox Church was held on Thursday afternoon, November 13 at the home of Miss Ruby Clark, with the president, Mrs. H. Mainprize, presiding.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. F. Blow and Mrs. F. Anderson.

A summary of the work that had been carried on in the past year was most gratifying. Splendid reports were received from the secretaries from all departments.

The report of the nominating committee was received.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, followed by refreshments served by Miss Clark and her committee.

CANADA: THE GOLDEN HINGE
by Leslie Roberts

A good Christmas gift for non-Canadian friends would be this completely up-to-date account of our country. It's in the Acton library; read it first and you'll perhaps think of someone to send it for Christmas. Certainly it would make a more lasting gift than a current fiction choice.

Limiting point may be that the book is written primarily to ex-plain Canada to Americans, for Leslie Roberts begins the "Golden Hinge" with a polite but firm affirmation that Canada is singularly lacking in any desire to join the United States.

Here is one of his points: "Indeed, a survey of the relationship of Canada and the United States reveals an inescapable fact, that, for the long haul, the United States' need of Canada and Canadian friendship is greater than Canada's need of the United States."

"For the moment Canada's need is undoubtedly greater, for example in defense. But, in establishing itself as the greatest power in the free world, and creating the vast complex of mass production which is the source of American power, the U.S. has exhausted most of the natural resources on which its power has been built. Canada, on the other hand, possesses a treasure-trove of wealth which cannot be matched in the western world."

The book is a splendid morale builder for Canadians!

Illustrated, it covers fully all Canadian aspects—the land, the people, the cities, the farms, the north, the wheat lands, the industrial areas. Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal are highlighted; there are references to many very Canadian things one wouldn't expect to find amongst Canadians—the I.O.D.E., the T. Eaton Co., corn on the cob, Toronto tycoons, even rum running.

Here we are: "There are two Ontarios, north and south, and two distinct species inhabits them. Most of the southern folks live in Canada's most highly industrialized area . . . they are the most American of Canadians . . . what makes the man of southern Ontario tick has been the subject of endless debate among other Canadians . . . he is Canada's most dogmatically protestant. Protestantism has lost none of its power—it is simply better tempered than it used to be."

A daily newspaper reviewer wondered about the accuracy of some of the facts. This reviewer, however, has no more right to question the other reviewer's facts than Leslie Roberts', so will conclude saying simply the book is humorous as well as informative.

BROWN LEAVES
The gold-brown leaves in beauty dance
And along the well-kept hedges prance,
To linger on the velvet grass
Where gardener with his rake will pass.

And other leaves with wisdom fall
On ragged lawns where children call,
And have their hectic hours of play
Before Dad carts them all away.

Funny how the leaves seem to know
A broken fence is where to go,
And Indians grim of five and six,
Crash their length on pony-sticks.

No one comes with grumbling blame
To set their crumbled hearts aflame;
No one comes—they can wait in peace
For snow and Nature's own release.

EXPENSIVE MODEL

An interesting letter in the Victoria (B.C.) Times, tells the story of a 1928 Packard sedan, purchased in 1934 for $850.

Since that time, the owners (Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lloyd) estimate that they have paid the B.C. government $390 in vehicle licenses, $30 in driver's licences, and $1,100 in gasoline tax; total $1,520, or nearly twice what they paid for the car itself.

They have just sold the car for $100. Now, the B.C. government is after them for 3 per cent. sales tax.
