Soon Guaranteed All Synthetic?

Soon the foreseeable future fabric weavers and garment manufacturers alike may be stitching to their products labels bearing the declaration "Guaranteed 100 per cent synthetic" - and by so doing ease one of the world's most pressing problems.

That doesn't mean that such natural fibres as wool and cotton are going to be displaced almost enurely as, for example, nylon displaced silk in hosicry The natural fibres will always have a place inthe textile industry. The volume used may increase. But economists expect man, of necessity, to turn ! more and more to man-made fibres. As consumption of all fibre rises, they expect the increase to be taken up by synthetic fibres.

This trend will not be due entirely to the synthetics possession of superior qualities. It will be due also to the compelling force of some basic economic laws

Last year, for example, the population of Canada increased by 420,000. The whole world gained about 25 millions. These additional people require food and clothing Not only is a rising population pressing on the world's agricultural resources for its food supply, but the pressure is being further increased by higher living standards. Food requirements, say economists therefore are going to gain first priority on the world's arable acres. Textile requirements will have to look elsewhere.
