NO WHISTLE STOP

The very thin lady on the street car, tried to squeeze onto a seat by a very fat lady, remarking to a companion as she did so: "They really ought to charge by weight on these cars."

The fat lady, exhaling comfortably and spreading out gently, opined: "If they did, honey, they couldn't afford to stop for some folks."

Hello Homemakers! Half the fun in candy-making is in the eating—which makes success doubly important. When candy is good, it is very, very good, and when it is not—it's such a disappointment.

Youngsters often beg to make candy on a stormy afternoon, and believe it or not the atmosphere can make a difference. Such candies as caramels, creams and fondants are tricky to make while taffy and brittle candies are not as difficult. Then, too, we have sweets that are good yet simple to make.

Before we list recipes we wish to repeat a message from Dr. Sandy MacGregor who gives illustrated lectures on dentistry for children: Do not give candy to wet tots and insist that children "dance" the tooth brush carefully along their teeth immediately after eating candy.

Turkish Delight
1 ounce (2 tbsps.) gelatine
1/2 cup cold water
2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
Grated rind 1 orange
1/2 cup orange juice
3 tbsps. lemon juice
Food coloring
Soak gelatine in cold water for

5 minutes. Combine sugar and boiling water, stir until mixture boils; add gelatine, and simmer gently for 20 minutes. Add flavoring and coloring. Rinse shallow pan with cold water and pour in mixture, about 1-inch deep. Cool. Put on bread board that has been sifted with powdered sugar. Cut into cubes, roll in sugar.

Nigger Babies
2 ounces sweet chocolate
2 tbsps. butter
1/2 pound marshmallows (about 15)
1 tsp. vanilla
3 cups of ready-to-eat cereal.
Melt chocolate, butter and marshmallows (cut finely) in top of double boiler. Add vanilla, mix well and pour over cereal which has been placed in a large, greased bowl. Blend well. Shape into balls, or press lightly into well-greased pan. Allow to harden, and cut into squares.

Chopped nuts, fine coconut or chopped glazed cherries are nice additions, and popped corn may be substituted for the cereal.
Almond Butter Crunch
1 cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 tbsps. water

1 tbsp. syrup
1/2 cup toasted almonds
1/4 pound sweet chocolate
1/4 cup finely chopped blanched almonds
Melt butter, add sugar and stir until sugar is dissolved; add water and syrup and cook slowly, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. Boil gently until small amount of mixture dropped into cold water will form brittle ball, or until candy thermometer registers 300 F.
Remove from heat, add toasted almonds. Turn into greased pan and mark into squares immediately.
Melt chocolate in top of double boiler and when candy is almost cool, spread with chocolate coating and sprinkle with finely cut almonds.

If desired, the candy may be turned over and chocolate and nuts sprinkled on both sides.

TAKE A TIP
1. Every particle of sugar should be melted before candy syrup is allowed to boil as this may cause a granular fondant.
2. Cream of tartar or corn syrup should be added after sugar is dissolved to prevent crystals from forming.
3. Do not stir fudge or fondant syrups after boiling begins; scrape around the sides of pan and gently across the bottom occasionally.
4. Allow the syrup to settle before beating.
5. To shape bon bons from fondant allow the mixture to ripen for one hour, then knead well. Break off small pieces and shape into balls, patties or strips. Let stand an hour or so to dry.

ASKS FOR RAISE

A man had asked his foreman for a raise in pay and had been refused. Finally he managed to get by an alert secretary and right into the big boss's office.

"I just had to see you sir" he said. "I asked my foreman for a raise and he refused. But I really ought to get one because three other companies are after me."

"What three companies?" asked the boss.

"The light company, the gas company and the telephone company" the man said.

He got the raise.
