Free Taxi Operated By Good Samaritan

A Calgary, Alberta couple were standing shivering at an isolated suburban bus stop on a bitterly cold Sunday morning, reports the Reader's Digest, as car after car passed them by. Then a battered old coupe stopped, the door opened and a cracked voice shouted, "Come on, get in!"

The couple gladly complied, and found that although the upholstery was ancient and torn, it was warm and snug inside the car. The elderly driver asked where they were found, and upon being told that they were on their way to church he chuckled and said, "Thought so. This is a taxi, you know."

On catching the look of surprise on the faces of his passengers, he explained, "Yep—the Good Samaritan Taxi. Been operating in Calgary for 16 years, and never charged a cent."

Asked the reason for his kindly action, the old gentleman replied: "I get a kick out of watching the people's faces. And it gives me a lift, too!" And he drove on to the church, two miles away.

The story reports that inquiries into the ownership of the car produced the information that the driver was over 70 and that every Sunday for 16 years—in sun, rain or snow—he had driven his car to hospitals in Calgary suburbs to take home nurses and interns coming off duty, and then had patrolled isolated bus stops and picked up stranded people. Furthermore, the owner of the "Good Samaritan Taxi" had no pension, and worked for his living every day except Sunday!

Appeals Red Tape At Effects Office

Napier Moore in his column in the Financial Post says he recently visited a settler's effects office in a Customs building.

There was a young Dutchman there. He was a gardener. We wanted clearance of his tools so that he could start work. They were upstairs and had been examined by customs. But they could not be released without an approved entry form. The forms having been completed in triplicate, he was then told that the entry must go through routine channels and that it would be at least three days before he could get his box.

In faltering English, in weariness and distress, the young Dutchman begged that he be allowed to take the completed and stamped entry upstairs so that he could get his tools. But he was told, "The entry must go through in the regular way."

The Dutchman said, "But why must I wait three days when my box has been examined and passed and is just upstairs?"

The Authority snapped, "You're lucky. Some people have to wait months."

The Dutchman spoke one sentence before he strode out. He said, "You are school children."

More Production Wider Markets

Both the capacity and the output of the Canadian newsprint mills has increased substantially in recent years. But they have not grown as fast as the other segments of the pulp and paper industry of this country.

Before the war, newsprint took more than 70 per cent. of total Canadian pulp produced; it now takes about 65 per cent. Newsprint output is about 65 per cent. greater than pre-war, but the production of pulps for uses other than newsprint is three and a half to four times as great.

Canadian newsprint has, however, by no means lost ground in world markets. Canada's share of world newsprint production in twelve years has risen from some 40 per cent. to about 54 per cent. and newsprint exports from Canada increased from 75 per cent. to 81 per cent. of all newsprint moving in international trade. But Canadian pulps have set an even faster pace.

Before the war, Canada usually shipped between ten and fifteen per cent. of all pulp moving in international trade, but now Canada accounts for a third of this trade and has become the leading pulp exporter in the world. In 1939 Canadian pulp went to some thirteen countries. To-day, it moves to twenty-six countries. This greater diversification of output and markets by the leading industry in Canada helps to provide increasing stability to the economy.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR ADDITION TO MILTON HIGH SCHOOL AT $19,710

J. B. Mackenzie & Son were awarded the contract for building the new library classroom at Milton High School at a tender price of $19,710 by the North Halton High School District Board at their meeting Thursday of last week. This Halton firm has the contract for the construction of the buildings at Acton, Milton and Georgetown and was the lowest of any bids for the work. Awarding this contract now completes the building contracts for the North Halton High School District. Completion dates are July 1st of 1954.

A letter from C. F. Leatherland, solicitor for the town of Acton, submitted a proposal and deeds for the board to grant a road and street allowance off the north side of the property in Acton for a continuation of Mill Street. In view of the fact that granting of this land would interfere with the building of future extensions of the building, the request was not granted.

Purchase of additional land at Georgetown High School had been held up and the Secretary explained the negotiations carried on up to the present. In view of these a motion was passed that negotiations regarding the purchase of land at Georgetown be discontinued and a vote of the present board over the grant allowance was not to acquire any additional land at Georgetown at the present time and that all contrary motions passed be rescinded.

A letter from Bowes Baptist Church in Milton requested the use of the High School Auditorium to hold Sunday School classes each Sunday. Permission was not granted and the Secretary was instructed to reply outlining the Board's position.

Messrs. Martin Brown, Brian Cook and D. W. Peck were present and Chairman N. Peck presided at the meeting held in Georgetown last Thursday evening.
