Saves Tot Fallen In Mill Waterway

Friday is Cecil Maplesden, an employee of A. P. Green fire brick company. While at the mill in Eden Mills loading sawdust into a truck, Mr. Maplesden heard cries and, running to the mill race, was able to pull out a little girl Her father, Mr. Barden, who works in the mill, ran out and hustled the soaking tot home

Harry Turner, who had gone with Mr. Maplesden for the load of sawdust was inside the mill at the time of the rescue

With playmates, the girl was crossing a plank above the runway 2nd where the water flows into the Although Mr. Maplesden dashed to the side of the race and reached down about two feet to pull her up, her rubbers fell downa short distance to the grating entering the mill. These rubbers were held to the grating by th powerful suction there.

Mr. Maplesden grabbed the girl's coat and told her to reach up, when he was able to catch her

"I wasn't long getting there," Mr Maplesden smiled The accident occurred shortly before noon Friday.
