Chronicles of

Ginger Farm
 Written Specially for the Acton Free Press by Gwendoline F. Clarke

Last week I did a complete right-about-face in regard to Folk Schools. Heretofore, I had not been too enthusiastic about this form of rural education and culture. Since we already have Women's Institutes, Farm Forums, Junior Farmers, Night Schools and various projects sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, I thought folk schools must surely be overlapping on some of these various rural activities. Now I find my opinion was the result of ignorance as I had never before been to a folk school to find out otherwise. But I was away two days last week and came home with very different ideas. In fact, it was the most enjoyable two days I had had for a long time. So now my criticism is not of the folk school but of the number of country people who fail to take advantage of it just as I failed in that respect myself until this year.

However, I think the purpose of folk schools is becoming better known and as public awareness of their function increases, so, too will their popularity increase.

In this county the one held last week was the biggest yet and I haven't a doubt but what next year there will be an even larger attendance.

Well, you may ask what is a Folk School? Strange as it may seem I still find it hard to give a good definition. However, this is how Mr. D. E. Stauffer of the Ontario Folk School Council puts it: "The folk school movement is an ideal built on a foundation of faith in God, faith in democracy, and a belief that no every community there is unutilized talent that can and must be used." That I think sums it up very well.

There is no an limit for the taking part in folk school activities, and every effort is made to encourage the old and the young. Participation among the young folk is being the future leaders in community life. Thanks to the generosity of rural families students enrolled for the four day course are generally board, and a high percentage of the course fee is paid by the local community.

And many terms. However, the course also charges payable by local parents at a farm home, but if students to house students every day carloads arrive for one or more sessions and all take an active part in the discussions and entertainment. The keynote is friendly informality. As a result there is no discernible stiffness or reserve in any of the gatherings. In fact, the students have various handshakes before the session but it is of course there is plenty of for

Advertise for Treasurer

The account from the Grand Valley Conservation Authority re share of administration costs levied against the township for 1954 amounting to $136.67 was ordered paid. Council took no action regarding the Orangeville hospital.

The clerk was instructed to advertise for applications for the position of treasurer of the township. Applications are to be in the hands of the clerk not later than March 15. Delegates to the Good Roads Convention were paid their expenses as follows: Geo. Wallace, 1 day, $10.00; John R. Baldwin, 1 day, $10; George D. Scott, 2 days, $20.

Accounts were examined and paid as follows: general accounts $715.72; sheep accounts $304.00; road accounts $4576.24.

Canadian Bibles In 100 Languages

Every four and one-half seconds, day and night, the year round, a Bible comes off the presses of the Bible Societies somewhere in the world. Last Sunday, March 7, marked the 150th anniversary of the British and Foreign Bible Society—the first such Society in the world. Twenty-four Bible Societies are co-operating in this celebration.

Rev. F. B. Keys, one of the Society's secretaries, Toronto, will address the people of Acton, Sunday, March 14, in the United Church.

In one hundred and fifty years, 2,000,000,000 copies have been circulated without purpose of profit. From 72 languages in 1804 the Societies have provided translations into now 1109 languages and dialects have all or part of the Bible in print. This has meant from ten to 40 years work of each individual translating the language to writing in most cases. Canada uses the Bible in over 100 languages, Ontario in over 40. The Bible Society is the only agency providing it in most of these languages.

Over 900 languages must still be reduced to writing and the Bible published in them. Almost all denominations depend upon the Bible Society for the translations for their missionary work everywhere in the world. Only 20 per cent of the world's demand can be met with present resources and publishing costs have increased 250 per cent over pre-war figures.

The Society sustains a loss of 60 per cent on the average on each volume published around the world. Therefore most churches and communities across Canada contribute towards the subsidizing of the sale of Scripture through the Society.

Mrs. C. Pickett Hostess to W.A.

The Women's Association of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. C. Pickett on Tuesday of last week with the president, Mrs. H. Burns, presiding. The meeting opened with the singing of the ode and repeating a prayer.

The devotional period was taken by Mrs. Ballentine and the roll call answered by "Rock".

The church kitchen is to be painted and other repairs are being done. Letters of condolence were sent to Mrs. William Walker and Mrs. William Sterritt. Arrangements were made for a social event to be held in the church.

The president closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Pickett, assisted by Mrs. Ballentine, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Fryer and Mrs. Holmes served refreshments which were enjoyed by those present.

A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Pickett for her home and those who assisted.
