

Contest Sponsored For Correspondents

A new competition has been announced by the Ontario Division of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' Association. It is entitled "Champion Country Correspondent Contest" open to rural correspondents of member papers. Awards will be made at the annual convention in London on June 11 and 12. Full details of the contest are now in the hands of the publisher of this newspaper.

The Champion Country Correspondent will be honored at the convention in June when he or she will be our honored guest, said Warden Leavens, secretary manager of the association. Robert H. Saunders, Q.C., chairman of the Ontario Hydro and long a friend of the weeklies, has agreed to donate a suitable award to the champion. Second and third winners will receive diplomas.

The Hydro Chairman credits the large rural circulation of the weeklies in Ontario to the rural correspondents and the news they produce. Mr. Saunders thanks "ruralists" items are the backbone of the rural town weeklies, of which he has a very high opinion. The Ontario Hydro is using the weeklies currently for a series of advertisements of Ontario Hydro at work for you and yours. Mr. Saunders is looking forward to attending the Convention of the Ontario weeklies in June when he will make the presentations.

The competition will be judged on the basis of correspondence by competitors on certain dates between now and the next couple of months. These dates will be made known to your home-town weekly. Correspondents should get in touch with their weekly newspaper to make sure they are entered in the "Champion Country Correspondent Contest" sponsored by the Ontario Hydro.

Tips on Touring

You can pack 43 items into a 21-inch week-end case in less than 15 minutes—and still have space enough for that last minute, nearly forgotten item.

I know because I not only pack it for each day on the road, but I pack and unpack it many times in travel talks before women's clubs and travel conventions.

The secret is simplicity and organization.

- (1) Make a list of every item you need, from aspirin to zipper jacket, and paste it inside your case cover.
- (2) Check off each item as you lay it on the bed or dresser for packing.

(3) Start packing with the heaviest, non-breakable items on the bottom and opposite the handle so they will remain in that position when the bag is carried or is at rest.

(4) Group as many related items as possible: all cosmetics in a cloth case, lingerie and hose together, shoes in another, etc.

(5) Fold in arms and roll sweaters army style, lengthwise, to conserve space and minimize wrinkles. Tissue paper or plastic in the folds of skirts, dresses and blouses does wonders in preventing creases.

(6) Fill in the empty spaces with the lighter, more pliant articles, and that last-minute item.

Bible For Kikuyu Terrorists Took 25 Years' Work, Cost Society $135,000

The 150th anniversary of Bible Society work in the world was celebrated locally Sunday evening in Acton at a service in the United church. A combined service was addressed by Rev. F. B. Keya, audio-visual education secretary of Upper Canada Bible Society, auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

The speaker reported that in 1853 the whole Bible appeared for the first time in what is known as Union Swahili. This is a form of the great Swahili language which will be understood from Mombasa to Zanzibar on the East coast of Africa right into the heart of the great continent where the great lakes are found.

Swahili is the language of the Slave Trade, the means created by the Arab Slave Traders to carry on their dark traffic in human bodies and souls. It exists in three chief dialects, now combined in this version of the Scriptures. Now the language of the slaver is to be vehicle for the liberating Word. This one Bible may well do for this immense tract of Africa what the Authorized Version did for the people of Britain. It will provide the Swahili speaking churches of East Africa with one Bible in place of three and so draw them together.

Other Union Versions are in preparation which it is hoped, will render like service for other parts of Africa. This is typical of a new phase in Bible Society work born out of the mere multiplication of vernacular versions, making the Scriptures more widely available and at the same time helping in the unification of African languages and cultures which is an urgent need.

Among those who will use this version are the Kikuyu tribe of Mau Mau terrorist fame. Twenty-five years steady work was required to produce this important translation. The Bible Society went into debt $135,000.00 in preparing and publishing this one translation.

Less than a hundred years ago there were hardly any African books and the Bible did not exist in any language spoken in Equatorial Africa. Today some part of the Scriptures exists in over 300 African tongues and in many of them it is practically the only literature there is. The Book has pioneered in literacy. Today it is the same book which is pioneering in cultural unity.

However, communist newspapers are beginning to cover the continent and propaganda is being distributed almost everywhere.

Some hundred languages must still be reduced to writing and the Bible published in them, said Mr. Keya. The Society is supported by most denominations in its work and it provides them with the Scriptures in the language in which their missionaries work.
