C. Waite Speaker At Forum Service

Halton County Farm Forum met at St. Paul's United Church, Milton, on March 28, for their first church service. The Lowville choir, under the leadership of Maurice Readhead, and the organist of St. Paul's Church, Mrs. Harold Magee, led the service of praise in hymns, anthem quartette and duet.

The worship service was under the leadership of S. Turner, chairman of Halton County Farm Forum, who led in responsive reading of the 23rd Psalm. Rev. R. Porritt, rector of St. George's Anglican Church, Lowville, led in prayer.

Clifford Waite, minister in charge of Lowville United Church, and Provincial Farm Forum secretary, read the Scripture lesson from the fourth chapter of Ephesians, wherein St. Paul urges all, as followers in the Christian faith, to unity, brotherly love and neighborliness. His sermon, preached from the same chapter, emphasized the necessity of Christian character exercised in daily lives, as we strive for unity in our communities, in our rural organizations, and in our hearts and lives.

Halton CNIB Share Set at $35,000

Halton County will seek to raise $35,000 as its share of the $1,500,000 Building Fund of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, county chairman L. D. Maxwell of Oakville announced this week.

Communities in which local appeals are being conducted are Burlington, Oakville, Milton, Georgetown and Acton.

The chairman for the county reported that individual goals for each community, would be set before the public phase of the appeal, April 20. Currently Mr. Maxwell is completing his enlistment of chairmen for each community. Community team captains also will be enlisted before mid April.

Vice-chairman for the county is F. Bruce Harrison, of Oakville. Community chairmen enlisted to date are: E. Manson Milne, of Burlington, and Herbert T. Rosen, of Oakville.

In announcing the subscription goal for Halton County Mr. Maxwell said, "This will give us a major stake in the Canadian National Institute for the Blind's new rehabilitation centre. It is an important step towards seeing that our blind neighbors in Halton County will have opportunity to live happy and useful lives."

Chronicles of

Ginger Farm
Written Specially for the Acton Free Press by Gwendolene P. Clarke

Well now look what happened to our spring. It got itself lost. Yes sir, that's what happened—no question about it. The days are getting longer—it is light now at five-thirty—but there are still furnaces to tend, winter clothing to wear and the robins, poor dears have gone into hiding. Winter lingers in the lap of spring. Lingers! That's putting it mildly. And just think of those poor souls, who for two or three months had been vacationing in Florida to escape our Canadian winter, and then came back home and found us still in the middle of it. But thank heaven relief is in sight, the probes are for somewhat warmer weather for today. Anyway farmers have had that much longer to get their seed grain cleaned and treated and houses washed a few more weeks to prepare for housecleaning. And during our prolonged winter we have even had time to keep pace with the news.

In Toronto the subway is in operation and most people in town and country alike are really thrilled over it. I am looking forward to my next trip to Toronto and it will be like going home and riding in the London Tubes again. But dear as it ever possible to satisfy the public's already some folk are wanting the subway stations heated. Imagine! And here and there somebody slips on the stairs—probably a baby or a child—steering and pushing of the street-car days on Yonge Street like that are dangerous in subways but I doubt people will soon learn to keep away from the track and stop crowding and pushing each other around. Or will they? I have that sort of thing become too definitely established. I hope not.

Well, we shall soon have to have a detective at Ginger Farm—another mystery parcel arrived last week and it was a small glass tumbler, decorated with black Seattle pups and with "David" painted on it. No name or address of the donor. Partner and I searched every bit of paper for a clue, even to the wrapping, as if as padding to prevent breakage, which was nothing more than brown paper envelopes crumpled up. "Ah now, here's a clue," I thought, "there will be a name or address on these old envelopes." But no, on one envelope it had been written in pencil "All right Mr. X, you win! Mister X." Yes, we have guessed that much because a woman would have used tissue paper for protective padding. And sure the container was a tobacco tin, we also gather you smoke a pipe. Mr. X, Partner said, "Now why didn't he leave the tobacco in that would have made good padding?" He would think of that. Arvax's puzzles will be passed on to David, the best opportunity and we'll see and Art get a kick out of it.

One other item in the news last week affecting all but the most

Knights Entertain At Turkey Supper

On Wednesday, March 24, approximately 80 Royal Black Knights, wives and friends gathered in the Orange Hall, Hornby, for a turkey supper, eucure and dance. The delicious repast, prepared by the Hornby Women's Institute, included turkey, peas, potatoes, cranberry sauce and jellies, as well as many pies.

Following the supper, most of the guests played eucure. Muriel Eyre and George Peacock took the ladies' and men's first prizes. Bette Brooks and Earl De Forest captured the low prizes. The lucky draw was won by J. E. Wilson.

After the eucure, the band struck up and everyone enjoyed the dance. Tom Houden led the music department, with J. Brooks calling the square dances.

Value of milk dumped as useless because it couldn't be delivered during a four-day strike of drivers in Toronto was figured at $320,000.
