

LOCAL NEWS

—This week work started to smooth out some of the car-jolting humps at the C.N.R. crossing on Mill St.

—Former Actonian Douglas Davidson will be one of the teachers on the Acton public school staff next September.

—Examinations are the order of the day in both the public school and high school. Public school reports go out next week.

—Taking over as Akela of the Acton cub pack is Murray Scovone, who has come from Sarnia to Acton as a member of the Free Press staff. He has had considerable experience in Sarnia with a large pack there.

Niagara Falls Trip Follows Ceremony

A quiet wedding ceremony took place in Toronto at Simpson Avenue United church on Friday, April 2 when Marion Alice King, eldest daughter of Mrs. Sydney Smith and the late William James formerly of Acton, and Joseph A. Brocher, Toronto, were joined together in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Their attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Harris of Georgetown and her brother, Lloyd James of Toronto. The bride and her attendants were dressed in grey suits with matching accessories and corsages of pink and red roses.

After a wedding supper at the home of the bride's mother, the happy couple left for Niagara Falls. They will reside in Toronto.

—Unfortunately, in last week's account of the Queenmen's concert in Knox church, the accompanist was reported as Mrs. Milton Dagg, rather than Mr. Dagg.

—The heating system at the new high school in Acton has been tested and put into operation and cement floors will be completed this week. The interior partitions are now being erected and good progress made.

—Wild geese have passed over the district flying north... likely the next sign of spring will be a phone call or note that someone has the first crocus of the season blooming in the garden.

—Not only did most Actonians remember to boost the postage on their letters this past week, but they're foresighted, too. The post office has seen an unprecedented run on one-cent stamps, with many buying them to add to their emergency stock of fours. The sale of five cent stamps is also surprisingly high. More five-cent blue stamps with an attractive picture of the Queen—have been sold in the past week than fours ever were in the same period of time.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Seeks Reason For Spelling Change

Acton, Ont. April 6, 1954

To Editor of Acton Free Press, Dear Sir, I would like to know if, when and why, the name of Lorne school was changed to read Lorn? Recently I have noticed any news item in your widely read paper, the last letter of the name has been clipped off, which I am sure all old pupils, who have fond memories of their happy school days spent at Lorne, resent.

For over 60 years the name has been Lorne, in honor of Lord Lorne, not Lorn—something forsaken. I hope whoever writes these items will in future use the name that was given to the school.

Thanking you for space in your valuable paper. Sincerely, An old Lorne school pupil.

Editor's Note: We spelled Lorn school with its final "e" regularly until we were informed about a year ago that the inscription at the school itself read "Lorn".
