

Something else that "makes the man" (and does even more for him!)

"Clothes make the man", says the old adage. But today more and more men are learning that they can also enhance their standing with certain people by owning life insurance.

Take employers, for instance. To them, a man's ownership of life insurance suggests that he is foresighted, thrifty, realistic. Above all, it reflects willingness to accept responsibility — an attitude that impresses every employer.

In fact, anyone who learns that a man owns life insurance regards him with added respect. They know that it represents one of the most important assets any man can have.

Yet perhaps the most important effect of owning life insurance is on the policyholder himself. It gives him a sense of achievement. For in no other way can he create such a valuable estate for so little in so short a time.

So life insurance can do more than provide financial security for your family and yourself in later years. It also influences people in ways that help win success!

NEWEST BUILDING in Monrovia, capital of Liberia, is a Y.M.C.A. The dedication service saw President William Tubman turn the first key and U.S. Ambassador Jesse Locker deliver the main address. Top leaders in government, church, and business attended. As part of their World Service program, Y.M.C.A.'s of North America helped Liberians with the cost of construction. Forefathers Came to America as Slaves Returns to Liberia as Y.M.C.A. Worker

By Dick Schull
The "Y" . . . how many forms of this Association are there on earth? How many ways have been used to reach young people in 80 countries? How many programs have been organized to interest young men all over the world?
For somebody who has travelled around a bit, these questions arise again and again. He might have seen the huge hotels and small one-man branches; he might have attended mass tournaments; he might have seen orientation races in Scandinavia; he might have seen the open-air movie in Addis Ababa where thousands of young people (without cars) gather every week to see the pictures of the Y . . . and always he will look at the face of the same Y - but in a different shape. Sometimes he might wonder if this is the same association all the world around.

Help from Prince
Remarkable progress has been made in some places where there was a real need for the Y.M.C.A. program. In most cases they found nothing organized in these places; sometimes there was just a beginning; sometimes church work years and years of hard labor often were necessary to get things moving, especially when they had to work among a different religion.
I remember the story of one of my friends who started the Y.M.C.A. in Bangkok, Thailand. A foreign country with a foreign situation; work which was unknown because social activities in general were unknown; but a prince who had seen the Y.M.C.A. in other countries supported the endeavors of this man.
I often think of the story of the responsibility in co-ordinating the situation in Transjordan with its immense intricate relationships of Arabs and Jews. Some parts of the population did not like the Americans; others were French-minded; some of them suspected the British. This man had to use all his intelligence to find his way in this political maze.

Last year I met a Liberian student in Melun, France, where one of the Y.M.C.A. training colleges is situated. A fine lad who had a curious ancestry. His forefathers had been brought to the States as slaves in chains aboard a slave-ship. His grandfather had gone back to the free republic Liberia and now was working as an assistant Y.M.C.A. secretary in his old country. It was a foreign country to him, being an educated American who even had to learn the Liberian language.
In this country Liberia, the country of the free negroes, an American secretary started his work four years ago. Some weeks ago he could open a building for the 2300 members of the Y.

CAMPBELLVILLE Band Lunch Topped By Birthday Cake

(Intended for last week)
The Grace Mission Band held its April meeting in the church school on Saturday afternoon with Gloria Purdy presiding. The meeting was opened with the call to worship. After singing a hymn Rev. Hamshaw read a prayer and Anita Smith read the Bible lesson.
Mrs. Greenless gave a brief commentary. The secretary and treasurer gave their reports. The birthday song was sung for three members. After a short business period, Jean Ellen gave a reading. Mrs. Greenless, the leader, then took the older children and Mrs. Menzies had the small children for their respective studies. Trinidad for the juniors and Africa for the primary were the subjects. Both groups enjoyed the stories. Some time was spent in handwork, after which lunch was served.
After the usual lunch special birthday cake and ice cream was served by Mrs. Purdy in honor of Gloria's birthday. Games followed and everyone enjoyed the whole afternoon. 26 members answered the roll call by naming a bird.
At Acton Church
Mrs. Greenless, Mrs. Menzies, Mrs. J. McPhail and Miss Simpson attended the Easter thanksgiving meeting of Knox church WMS in Acton, last Thursday.
Rev. K. G. McMillan of St. Andrew's church, Guelph was the guest speaker. Mr. McMillan gave a very informative address on the different fields where our missionaries are working. Not all fields are having the response they would like to have. The challenge is given to us to do our part.
