THIS WEEK'S SCENE: An early evening storm gathers. Slowly at first, then with darkening tempo, portentous clouds gather in the east and rumble westward to overtake sunlight at its sinking source. Soon the sun's shafts serve only as aides to glaze the crests of the rolling clouds. Shortly the countryside, between Acton and Milton, as depicted here is hushed to await the rains that follow.

Bred Maltese Dogs To Give Away

Victoria, (OP)—Miss E. C. Dorothy Hanman, 81, who died here recently, might have become wealthy except for her love of people and dogs.

A highly-paid professional dermatologist and owner of a group of Kootenay district mines, she was constantly lending money and buying goods she did not need to assist salespeople.

She took up breeding of Maltese dogs and would never take cash for them. Each summer she closed her downtown offices and went tramping in the mountains with pack-horses and camping outfit, painting many water colors.
