Seven Cubs attended the special instruction period for prospective Scouts last Thursday night at the Scout Hall. Most of these boys have nearly finished their First Star work but one is well advanced with only a few of his Second Star tests to do.

Extra nights will be set aside for Second Star work until the Cubs begin their regular meetings on September 9. These evenings are for the more advanced Cubs who wish to finish their Second Star work.

Any new boys who wish to join in the game of Cubbing are asked to contact the Cubmaster, Murray Scoyne, at 376m in the evenings.

Blonde Barbara is managing editor of the Guide-Advocate at Watford, 35 miles west of London, working with her father, William O. Aylesworth, in getting the paper out. Barbara, 25, was given a thorough training by her father and her reporting duties have taken her into all phases of rural life.

Her future plans include the newspaper business in a new locale—North Battleford, Sask., where her fiance, Irwin McIntosh is managing editor of the New Optimist.

Budworms, Loopers Reported in B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — Every available biologist has been mustered to work on controlling a plague of insects sweeping the British Columbia forest areas.

The spruce budworm and the hemlock looper are again on the loose and the situation is regarded as serious.

Last time the looper attacked trees was in 1945-46-47. More than 750,000,000 board feet of timber was destroyed on Vancouver Island and on the mainland.
