This man searches the earth

HE BLASTS and tunnels through the layers of dirt and bedrock, seeking the vein of ore that will yield nickel, zinc, copper, lead, aluminum... or other minerals that our industry must have.

He is not interested in keeping up with the neighbor next door. He is interested in feeding, clothing and educating his family.

He does not believe in borrowing, ordinarily. And he shouldn't. But he knows that if he finds it necessary to borrow money to face some unexpected emergency, he can do so at a consumer finance organization like Household Finance.

That is why companies like HFC exist. To provide a dependable source of money to face emergency or opportunity. To enable him to raise his family even when money is not easy to find—to keep building both his family and the nation.

Household Finance has offered this service for many years. Millions of Canadians have been helped with money when it was most urgently needed. Household Finance is proud of its important role in the Canadian economy.

Rhoda Wainwright Weds B. Shoemaker

In an autumn wedding in West-side United church, Rhoda Susan E. Wainwright of Owen Sound became the bride of Bruce Edward Shoemaker of Acton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wainwright of Owen Sound and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shoemaker of Kitchener.

Rev. Norman Pick officiated and Mrs. E. Dillon played the wedding music. Candelabra and chrysanthemums of autumn shades with ferns decorated the church.

The sister of the bride, Mrs. Rogers Agnew, sang "The Lord's Prayer and Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of brocade satin with a high mandarin neckline. The full skirt fell into a Cathedral train. A coronet of pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Only attendant was Mrs. Douglas Murrell, the bride's sister, who wore a matching gown of apple green brocade satin. Her bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Douglas Murrell was groomsman.

The immediate families of the bride and groom gathered at the home of the bride's parents following the marriage for a reception. Leaving, the bride wore a dress of evening blue with red accessories and a corsage of red roses. Her topcoat was of black and white check. Upon their return they will make their home at 55 Mill St., Acton.

Twin Brothers Wed In Double Ceremony

The twin grandsons of James W. Moffat, former treasurer of Nes-sagaweya, were married in a double wedding ceremony solemnized in Melrose Park Presbyterian church, Toronto. Christena Jean Steedman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Steedman, became the bride of Ronald Vantreen Moffat, and Irene L. Mooney became the bride of Robert Langley Moffat.

The grooms are the Twin Sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Moffat. Rev. J. H. Marshall officiated.

Miss Steedman, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a white ballerina length dress of satin worn under a lace coat. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls, and she carried yellow roses and stephanotis. Miss Mooney, who was given in marriage by Howard Lucas, chose a ballerina length dress of white nylon net over satin with long sleeved lace jacket. A beaded crown caught her fingertip veil and she carried ivory roses and swansons and stephanotis.

Attending Miss Steedman were Mrs. June Borland, Matron of Honor, and Eleanor Moffat, sister of the grooms, bridesmaid. Attending Miss Mooney were Pat Stephen-maid of honor, and Mrs. Clara Woodhams. They all wore Ballerina length gowns of yellow emerald green, lime and apricot. They wore matching hats in leaves with brilliant, and carried fall shades of roses and gladioli.

Howard Atkinson was best man for Ronald Moffat and Alex Ellison for Robert Moffat. Ushers were Ralph Borland and Allen Cuzen.

To receive at the Stratgroman Badminton Club, Mrs. Steedman wore a stone blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of coral roses and swansons.

Autumn Bride Has Four Attendants

Calvary Baptist church, Guelph, was decorated with gladioli and chrysanthemums for the marriage of Audrey Helena Pharoah and James Harvey McDougall. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Pharoah of R.R. 1, Moffat and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McDougall, R.R. 1, Rockwood.

Rev. J. W. Boyd officiated. Given in marriage by her father

Marshall-Ingram Wedding In Guelph

Dr. J. A. O'Reilly officiated at a double-ring ceremony in the Church of our Lady, Guelph, when nuptial vows were pledged by Marlene Frances Ingram and Donald Kaye Marshall. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ingram, Guelph, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Marshall, Eden Mills.

Mr. Ingram gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a floor length gown of white nylon net over taffeta. Embroidered lace was applied on the bodice, skirt and full length net gloves. A Juliet cap of lace embroidered with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of nylon net and she carried a Mother-of-Pearl prayer book centered with tiny pink Sweetheart rose buds.

Mrs. J. Theaker was matron of honor, wearing an ankle length gown of rust nylon net fashioned with a halter neckline and shirred bodice. A matching rust feather headdress, and cascade bouquet of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums with stems of wheat arranged throughout completed her costume.

As bridesmaid, Miss Joan Ben-inger of Blyth was gowned in rust nylon net fashioned identically to the matron of honor.

Norman Marshall of Eden Mills was his brother's best man with Kenneth Ingram of Guelph, brother of the bride and Harold Jackson of London ushers.

A reception followed at Lelsure Lodge.

Mrs. Ingram received her guests wearing a navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother assisted wearing a peacock blue tulle dress styled on Princess lines with black velvet trim and accessories and a corsage of coral Sweetheart

Autumn Wedding In Setting of Mums

Standards of white chrysanthemums with sprays of foliage were placed in Knox Presbyterian church, Acton, for the autumn marriage of Margaret Blow and Warren James Wood. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Blow and the late Mr. Fred Blow, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood. All are of Acton.

Rev. R. H. Armstrong performed the ceremony at 3:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, October 9.

Entering the church on the arm of her brother, Jack Blow, the bride wore a traditional white gown of taffeta, the bouffant skirt falling into a short train. Inserts in the skirt of the gown and at the neckline were of imported French Guipure lace embroidered with sequins and pearls. A coronet of pearls held her fingertip veil edged with Guipure lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of crimson baby roses with stephanotis, gardenias and fern.

Attendants were Mrs. J. Graham, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Miss Helen Holmes of Acton and Mrs. Marjorie Galbraith of Guelph as bridesmaids. All three wore strapless taffeta gowns with very bouffant skirts, topped with Eton jackets which featured small Queen Anne collars and long sleeves. Mrs. Graham's gown was honey brown, Miss Holmes' of leaf green. Each wore a matching head-dress of pleated taffeta in coronet effect.

They carried sprays of bronze, white and yellow chrysanthemums with fern and streamers.

Groomsman was Don Ryder and ushers were Melbourne Blow and James Graham.

Ted Hansen played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. J. Davidson, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

About 100 guests were received in the church parlor by the mothers of the bride and groom and the wedding party. Mrs. Blow chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of Dior blue taffeta with diamante trim. With this, she wore dusty pink accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

Mrs. Wood assisted, wearing a dress of mushroom beige crepe with beading and brown accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

Multi-colored chrysanthemums were placed on the tables in the church basement for the dinner which followed. The three-tiered wedding cake, circled with tulle, was flanked by pink candles in candelabra.

Leaving, the bride wore a navy suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will live in St. Catharines.
