LOCAL NEWS

There has been good skating on the pond this week, with cold weather and not much snow.
Back to school this week for the public school, high school and basic English classes. Night school doesn't begin again until next week.
The district families whose breadwinners are Ford plant employees find little encouragement in the news each day. Talks have been adjourned till Friday now.
The colored lights which were hung across the main streets for the Christmas season were disconnected on Monday. The same day saw lines of detected, overturned evergreens down all the streets, waiting for the garbage truck.
Both walking and driving have been very treacherous this week with sidewalks, lawns and roads all icy. While the youngsters were able to skate wherever they pleased, it was hard going for the older people! Most of the streets were sanded Tuesday.
While he was skating on New Year's Day, (Gardner Mann, the son of Corp. and Mrs. Ray Mann, broke his leg. The limb was broken in several places in the unfortunate holiday accident.
Cars driven by Ernest Gardiner of Eden Mills and John Clifford of Guelph were in collision at the junction of county road 20 and highway No. 7 at Eden Mills Monday. Earlier the same day a Guelph man escaped injury when the car he was driving skidded on the ice and rammed a fence at the same corner.
Who's having the 65th wedding anniversary? That's the puzzling question in the Limestone area this week. For it was apparently announced on the radio-or some of the stories say television-that a Limestone couple were celebrating 65 years of married life. The nearest the Free Press can come to tracking down the story is to learn that Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Lindsay of R.R. 1 Limestone observed their 65th anniversary on December 2. Does anybody have the answer?

Head Offices May Move Due to Union

As a consequence of prevailing trade union doctrine on the subject of picketing, it will quite probably become the practice of large corporations to establish their managerial offices at a considerable distance away from production plants, writes B. K. Sandwell in the Financial Post.
In such organizations, direct and constant contact between management and operating staff is not so vital as in small set-ups, and can be adequately provided for by a relatively small office in the plant which can be closed when production operations are being picketed.
The situation in which the executives of a company can have access to their records only by kind permission of a striking union is too unsatisfactory to be tolerated.
Mental patients in institutions and psychiatric units outnumber all the patients in all the public hospitals of Canada by more than 10 per cent.

Men's Jewellery In Watch Bands

Not to be outdone, watch band designers have come forth with equally interesting developments in their field, and your watch bracelet can now be as pretty a piece of jewellery as it is a helpful timepiece.
Men's jewellery collections are more interesting and colorful than they have been in many seasons and with the trend toward more and more French cuffs, designers have put their minds to cuff links in a wider range of types, sizes and shapes. As earrings are to the lady's wardrobe, so cuff links are to the man who feels that he no longer can be considered well dressed with a single pair.
The bars and pins are equally new and interesting and the pearl stickpin is enjoying a new popularity, thanks to the Duke of Edinburgh, who has taken a special liking to the pearl stickpin and is said to wear it almost invariably with his business suits.
