

Local News

The television aerial was blown off the roof of the Rumley Funeral Home during the gale on Tuesday.

day, taking part of the roof with it. The winds lashed at the men making necessary repairs during the storm.

An evergreen at Limestone Presbyterian church succumbed to high winds and cracked, though. No damage was done.

Many people passing the Free Press office have been interested in the large map of Acton which fills a whole window.

Stanley Snowden, a student for the ministry at Emmanuel College in Toronto, preached the sermon at the United church Sunday morning.

The first day of spring good. The stunning snow storm of the morning gave way to clear skies in the afternoon to make driving conditions very bad.

Some remodeling has been done at the bank of Nova Scotia. A new door has been made in the counter and there are new shelves.

Summer exams start next Monday at the high school.

There's still a great deal of sickness among the children and measles are still going the rounds. Several cases of scarlet fever were reported for the second time. The child and adult are hitting the act.

Mrs. Deaver Mack and Mrs. Robert W. Deaver, representatives of the Women's Institute, met with the village council to propose erecting street signs in the village. The W.I. is considering this as a project.

Although it had weather for driving they are still quite a few visitors in town and Actonians away. Remember these items of news are always welcome for the "Seasonal" column. Drop them in at the Free Press office or phone.
