You don't argue with a locomotive. So a manufacturer of rail equipment has developed a lightweight rail inspection car that carries four people yet can be taken off the track by one man.

Since men who design rail cars, aircraft and other transportation equipment regularly use aluminum to cut down dead weight and increase pay load, it is no surprise that, aluminum was used to replace heavier materials in many parts of this inspection car. The person who will be surprised is the locomotive engineer who first sees a rail inspector nonchalantlyand single-handedly - hoisting his scooter from the track. .

To Ragweed Much of the hay fever suffered annually by people in Southern Ontario is caused by Ragweed. It is estimated that one out of every ten persons in Ontario is allergic to the pollen produced by this weed, a fact which is ample reason for eradicating it. Ragweed has other harmful effects as well. Its presence in clover seed is objectionable and it is difficult to remove, especially after the outer seed hull has been removed. It absorbs moisture and plant food required by growing crops and the weed itself can produce off-flavors in milk when eaten by cattle, reports the Field Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture,

The Ragweed plant is a many branched annual with hairy stems, growing from one to three feet in height. The leaves are finely divided and each plant produces up to 5,000 seeds that are vigorous enough to remain in the soil for years and still germinate when brought to the surface.

In the control of Ragweed, it is important to prevent the seed from setting. Fields that have been sprayed with from four to six ounces of 2, 4-D are found to be relatively free from the weed. To be effective, the spraying should be done when the plants are very young—from June 15 to July 15. While cutting Ragweed plants before the seed sets is a good practice, it does not as a rule eliminate it entirely as some of the seed will set very close to the ground and is usually missed. A good after harvest cultivation on fields not seeded down previous to plowing is effective. Short rotations with good cultural practices, supplemented by spraying, will give good control, Hand pulling in gardens and along roadsides will prevent the spread of pollen.

Ragweed is everyone's problem. The Field Crops Branch advises people to learn to recognize the weed and to assist in destroying it not only for the good of crops, but to alleviate the suffering of untold numbers of human beings.
