ANASTASIA'S DAUGHTER

By Gale Taylor

Anastasia's daughter is young Anna, who, when she goes to plan her lifetime, realizes more and more strongly the limitations of being a Doukhobor. The young girl sneaks to a dance and to a show although her family doesn't approve. She finds disappointment.

She wants to go to school and to be a teacher. It seems impossible. As well as money problems, there are two men who are in love with her, and her family expects her to marry and go to another farm, as the Doukhobor girls always do.

Poor, pretty Anna! You'll like her and the whole family after the first few pages of this Canadian novel. And you'll understand more about the Doukhobors themselves, including the sect which burns schools and homes, and holds nude parades. Anna herself did not belong to this group.

The book is a very recent one and has been receiving excellent reviews.

Receive Letter From Addis Ababa

The letter, Ethiopian flag and stamps sent to the Bishop's Gray-Y club have been lent to the Free Press and are on display in the front window this week.

The boys of the club received the letter from Merlin Bishop in Addis Ababa. It reads as follows:

I was delighted to get your letter of June 8 and to know that you were paying me such a high honor in naming your club after me. It is very good to know that I have some young friends in Acton who are working with me as I try to work with the boys in the YMCA in Addis Ababa.

So that you can think of me in the Addis Ababa YMCA I am sending you a small Ethiopian flag which you might find interesting. If you have this flag on a stand the green bar goes on top. I am also sending a few stamps so that each of you will have a stamp from this country.

I would very much like to keep in touch with you and to know that your club is growing and what you are doing. Some time when you are all together it would be nice to have your picture taken and I would certainly like to have a copy.

I am planning to come home on furlough in about one year and I hope it will be possible for me to visit you while I am there. I enjoy very much your letter and seeing each of your signatures on the letter.

Very sincerely yours, Merlin A. Bishop.

THE CARTERS ARE LUCKIER THAN THEY KNOW! Like all families, the Carters have plans and dreams for the future. But, unlike the families of just a generation ago, they have a better chance of making those dreams come true. Why? One important reason is because life insurance is much more flexible today. During the past 25 years, many new policies have been created. The modern "family income" policy, for instance, provides maximum coverage while children are young, and reduces in amount as they become self-supporting. Other policies have been developed to cover mortgages, and to provide retirement income to fit in with the government old age security benefits. THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA.
