Salvation Army Visits Manor

The residents of Halton Manor were privileged to enjoy a fine musical treat on Wednesday evening, November 2, when the band and the songsters of the Guild of the Salvation Army came to the Manor to play and sing for the residents. The concert was held in the dining room which can also be used as an assembly hall. The members of the band and the songsters numbered about 60. They were accompanied by their Citadel Commander, Captain Cyril Fisher. After the visitors had been welcomed to the Manor by Mr. Eric Clarke, the superintendent, Captain Fisher acted as chairman for the evening in very genial fashion.

From the opening march on through a varied program, each number was beautifully performed and very much appreciated by the audience. The band was conducted by Bandmaster S. Crossland and the fine mixed chorus was led by Mr. Russell Lewis, a member of the Manor staff.

In addition to selections by the band and songsters as a whole, there were also a trombone duet by Bandmaster S. Crossland and Bandsman Hugh Sutherland, an octette of male voices led by Bandsman Herb Critchley and a sextette of female voices. Songster Chris Hipson played the piano accompaniment for the songsters and the octette and Mrs. Russell Lewis accompanied the sextette on the piano.

The residents joined the visitors in the singing of the familiar hymns, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "Abide with Me." Captain Fisher brought the program to a close with the Benediction. Muriel Thompson tendered a vote of thanks to the visitors for a delightful evening and expressed the hope of all present that the visitors would come again soon.

The serving of delicious refreshments brought this very pleasant evening to a close.

Sunday Service
On Sunday afternoon, November 6, the regular church service in the chapel of the Manor was conducted by Mr. Eric Clarke, superintendent of the Manor. He was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. Hipson, all from the Guild of the Salvation Army, and Mrs. Clarke.

Mrs. Clarke gave the opening prayer and Mrs. A. T. Brown the closing prayer. Speaking on the text, "The Word was made God and dwelt among us," from St. John's Gospel, chapter 1, verse 14, Mrs. Fletcher gave a very acceptable address which appealed to the residents very much.

The residents also enjoyed and appreciated very much the musical part of the service. Mr. Fletcher, accompanied by Mrs. Hipson at the piano, sang two fine baritone solos. No one ever cared for me like Jesus and He lifted me. Mrs. Hipson played a lovely piano solo. In the Garden.

The residents are hoping that these talented visitors will come to the Manor again in the very near future to assist in another inspiring service.

Hunting Causes Warning Signs

All true sportsmen recognize the fact that it is common courtesy to ask a farmer before hunting on his property. The farmer certainly has a right to know who is on his land—and why. Unfortunately, there are always some who head for where the hunting looks good without considering they are trespassing as surely as if they were in their neighbor's backyard.
It is the action of this minority that has brought about those warning signs that farmers are posting against gun-carrying trespassers.
Certainly farmers aren't unreasonable. It's when those hunters leave gates open, make up for their lack of rabbits by taking pot shots at poultry, that they really make nuisances of themselves.
The Department of Lands and Forests has some simple rules that sportsmen should always obey.
Ask permission—always—before going on private property.
Know what you are shooting at.
Be sure that the complete course of the bullet or shotgun pellets is clear.
Be careful not to destroy property or break fences.
Give farm stock and fowls a wide berth.
Don't do target shooting near houses or other people.
Always consider the rights of others.
Farmers in Haldimand county nearby have even gone so far as to have legislation passed which would ban all non-residents of the county from hunting within Haldimand. They thought the hunter came from cities. Well, their request couldn't be granted. But it should show hunters can create antagonism which can be serious.

Waterloo county also has a deer season the same dates as Halton. There is no open season for caribou, and no closed season for bear. For those who care to try, weasel and skunk may be shot any time of the year.
Along with neighboring counties such as Peel, Wentworth, York and Haldimand, Halton county has its open season for upland game birds, ruffed grouse, sharp-tailed grouse and spruce partridge from October 29 to November 5. Bag limit is three a day and possession limit 15 at any one time. Prospects for grouse and pheasant in Halton are mediocre. Spruce partridge are far more abundant.
Squirrels are on the run all over the province from October 26 to November 12. Bag limit is five a day and possession limit 10. Squirrels are not usually bothered much by Halton hunters.
Halton county is noted for good rabbit hunting. There are four open months on cotton-tails and Jacks, the season ending February 29 of next year. Six a day are the regulation.
For raccoons, the dates are August 1 to October 31 in any part of Ontario.
The season for Hungarian partridge just ended October 22. They are often seen in this district but seldom shot.
The first of October is the opening of the season here for ducks, geese, rails, coots, gallinules, mourning doves, woodcock and Wilson's snipe. The season ends December 15. Of these migratory birds, only the ducks make anything approaching good hunting in this district. Halton is off the main migration route and hunters have to rely on stray flocks or locally-hatched birds for their bags. So far success has been poor but the black ducks have not arrived in sufficient quantities from the north to know how the end result will be.

Much discussion has been touched off by the inclusion, of a mourning dove season this year. The dove, symbol of peace, has a warm place in the hearts of many bird lovers and many letters to the editor have been written in protest against the law which permits them to be shot.
Official bag limits read as follows in any one day, ducks (exclusive of Morgans) eight, of which not more than one may be a wood duck; geese, five; rails, coots, gallinules. Foxes, of course, are plentiful in this district and for the past decade hunters have been paying for their hunting expeditions with bounty money from foxes shot. The season opens November 1 and continues on until next year.
The use of snares is forbidden in this county.
There is a special regulation in connection with certain counties, including Halton, noting it is contrary to the act to hunt pheasants, rabbits and foxes during the open season in designated townships except under a license from the township.

PUZZLED
While my boy friend was away I had my hair styled in the short, wispy cut made famous by Audrey Hepburn. When I met him at the airport he looked, then stopped dead. "Gosh," he said, "I don't know whether to kiss you or shake your head."
Only in 1952 did Canada's exports increase her imports.
