CAMPBELLVILLE U.C.O. Opens New $600,000 Plant Will Supply 72 Co-operatives

Some 60,000 Ontario farmers through their central wholesaling organization, United Co-operatives of Ontario, are now the proud possessors of a new $600,000 feed manufacturing plant in Guelph, Ont. In official opening ceremonies Wednesday, the plant was unveiled by United Co-operatives of Ontario to approximately 500 Ontario co-operative and affiliated farm organization officials, employees and guests.

Boasting one of the largest feed warehouses and one of the most modern feed plants in Canada, the Guelph operation will supply 72 co-operatives located in south-western and northern Ontario. The remaining 80 co-operatives in the eastern part of the province are presently being supplied by United Co-operative plants at Kemptonville and Peterborough.

The new Guelph plant will replace the two now outdated feed plants which the United Co-operatives of Ontario own in Guelph. With a 24 hour capacity of 400 tons, the new plant will almost double the present capacity of the two Guelph plants and eventually will require less manpower.

Main units of the new plant are a three-storey warehouse with floor space of almost 50,000 square feet, a modern office and laboratory, 12 silos with storage capacity of 84,000 bushels and the mixing department.

40 mixing bins, 15 ingredient bins and six grinder bins, plus the 12 silos give the plant a total holding capacity of almost 150,000 bushels. Mixing is done by a two-ton "traveling scales." Bulk deliveries of grain and ingredients to the plant are speedily handled by a pneumatic unloader.
