W.M.S. Addressed By Mrs. R. Buckner

The Senior Auxiliary W.M.S. of Knox church held its June meeting at the home of Miss M. Somerville and Mrs. P. Kennedy, when 29 ladies braved the heat to answer the roll call.

The Home Helpers' department was in charge of this meeting under the guidance of their secretary, Miss L. Moore. Five Home Helpers, Mrs. A. M. McPherson, Mrs. F. McCutcheon, Miss J. McGregor, Mrs. M. Coles and Mrs. R. L. Davidson, took the worship service and Mrs. J. Davidson and Mrs. E. J. Harsard assisted with a solo and the reading of a poem.

Mrs. R. Buckner, an active worker in mental health work, explaining the necessity of understanding mental illness as an illness just as any other disease and that it needs the proper preventive and remedial treatment. This must be made known to all citizens if the appalling conditions now existing are to be lessened.

Orenda Layoffs To Affect 350

Orenda Engines Ltd. of Malton is to start laying off employees and cutting back production.

Walter R. McLachlan, vice-president and general manager, in a statement to the company's 5,000 employees, said the lay-off would extend gradually over a two month period. About 350 workers will be affected.

To date, more than 3,000 Orenda engines have been produced for the twin engine CF-100 and the single engine F86 Sabre, the R.C.A.F.'s two front line fighters. Orders have also been filled for the South African and Colombian governments.

A spokesman for the Defense Production Dept. in Ottawa said production of the jet engine reached a peak of 100 a month during the Korean war. Since hostilities ceased, production has been cut to about 50 per month and is to be cut still further on a sliding scale for about the next year.

The current layoffs will affect both production and service workers in some departments of the plant.

The company statement added, however, that the size of the layoff had been reduced by increased activities in the Orenda engineering and experimental plant, where work is proceeding on a large turbo-jet designed for supersonic flight.

The addition of a third shift in the experimental plant absorbed many employees who otherwise might have been affected by the cut in the current schedule of engine deliveries.

Miss Marjorie Fountain assisted the bride-to-be in opening her lovely gifts. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. About 15 guests attended the shower.

The hero of the song "The Man who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" was an Englishman, Charles Wells, who won $200,000 in three days at roulette. Actually, he didn't break the bank. Monte Carlo keeps on hand a million dollars in cash and can get more at short notice. "Breaking the bank" is impossible.

Mrs. John H. Voysey Dies in Saskatchewan

A native of Nassagaweya, Dr. F. O. Gilbert has written for this newspaper an account of the life of the late Margaret Riddle Voysey, who passed away last month. Dr. Gilbert, who is now living in Victoria, B.C., practiced for 25 years at Spy Hill. He knew the Kennedy family well.

There are friends still living in this district who knew Mrs. Voysey well, and a sister, Elizabeth Kennedy, lives at Campbellville.

Friends were saddened by the news of the passing of Mrs. Margaret R. Voysey, widow of the late John H. Voysey, both of whom were highly respected old timers of Spy Hill, Saskatchewan. Funeral service was held in the old home, a landmark on the outskirts of the village.

Born in Penpont, Scotland, in 1870, she came to Ontario at 11 years of age with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, who settled near Guelph. She attended High School in Guelph and took her teacher training at the old model school in Toronto. She taught at Killeen and Speedside, coming West in 1897. She taught for a time in the first school at Spy Hill within sight of the farm home where she was to spend well over 50 years. Grey haired men and women living in the district today were among her pupils.

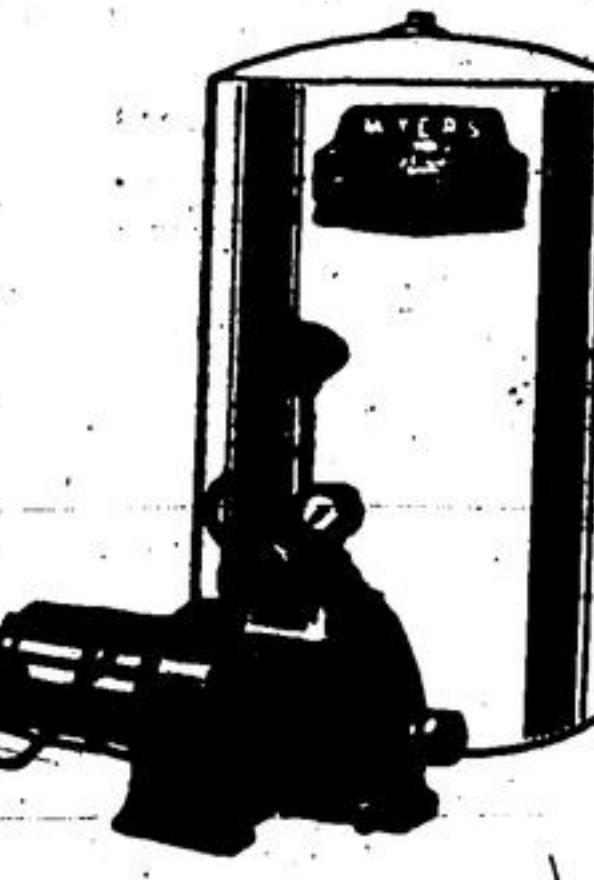

She married John H. Voysey at the turn of the century and entered enthusiastically into western farm life. Two sons live at Spy Hill and two daughters in Winnipeg. A strong individualist, she naturally took her duties seriously. Her teen-age years were spent in a town where she was adapted to mold her innate Celtic character. Her writer, whose boyhood days were spent in an adjacent district, distinctly remembers several of those pioneers. Home, church and school towered high in her lives. It was characteristic of the deceased that, although she spent her 58 years in the West far from any local church of her fathers, she remained a Presbyterian to her death. She was not narrow in her religious concepts, for she took part in the local church organizations and taught Sabbath School with distinction.

In her home, she was a quiet but attentive hostess, with true, typical western hospitality. The passing years caused a narrowing of her intimate circle of friends through death, and advancing age found her retiring more and more to her books, for she was always an avid reader. But to the last, her face would light up with a smile, and she was ready to engage in animated conversation when friends called at her home.

At the age of 85, this quiet, but true servant of Christ passed peacefully onward, so peacefully that life almost imperceptibly merged with death. Only a few hours from activity of mind and body, to passing.

Farewell, farewell, old neighbor.
F. O. Gilbert, M.D.,
Victoria, B.C.

Mrs. C. W. Mason Hostess to W.A.

The Woman's Association of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. C. W. Mason on Tuesday with the president, Mrs. H. Burns, presiding. Devotional period was taken by Mrs. A. Shoemaker and Mrs. S. Holmes. Roll call was a paper clipping of interest. A donation was sent to Five Oaks Training School. New table linen and silverware are to be purchased for church use. A bus trip and picnic combined was planned to London. There will be visits made to several industrial plants and picnic and supper will be in the United Church were Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Curry are located.

Decorating is to be done at the parsonage. Value of a Smile was read by Mrs. G. Ingle and Day's Results by Mrs. A. Shoemaker. The next meeting will be in September. Mrs. Mason, assisted by Mrs. P. Ennis, Mrs. C. Pickett, Mrs. F. Cleave, Mrs. L. Ajar and Mrs. L. Masales, served refreshments. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Mason for her hospitality.

The average term of office for Prime Ministers of Canada seems to be about 10 years. In the past 30 years, only three men have held this office.
