GOOD PROGRAM

MR. NEELON, Minister

"Want some help with your homework, Dad?"

It's a good thing young Ted is only joking. His dad is studying the needs of families like yours for financial protection. If he took Ted up on his offer, the boy would be overwhelmed by problems about managing family incomes, succession duties, protecting a business against losses caused by the death of the owner, and other matters.

Ted's father is a modern life underwriter. Today, life insurance representatives not only study better ways to provide life insurance protection — they seek a real understanding of people's needs, and shape plans to meet these needs, which differ with every family.

You'll find today's life insurance man a good man to know. His progress reflects the many ways in which the life insurance business has developed with the times to meet your changing needs!

Canadians have a wide choice of life insurance plans — offered by more than 60 life insurance companies operating in this country.

Georgetown has 5881 Residents

Georgetown's population has risen by almost 2500 in the past five years.

This week, the town council learned at their meeting that the 1956-dominion census shows 5881 residents. The information was relayed in a letter from the census bureau.

The 1951 dominion census total was 3452.

Council speculated on the fact that local population may now be over the 6000 mark.

Bungalows by Burro

The United Nations estimates that 150 million families in underdeveloped areas lack adequate housing.

One answer is a frantically built-it-yourself house designed by Canadians of Canadian aluminum. It needs no foundation, is non-corrosive and verminproof, is so light weight that it is packed in cartons easily carried by plane, jeep or even burro.

The Colombian government has ordered 3,200 of them to help relieve the shortage of rural housing in that South American country. So it's not surprising, with aluminum travelling so far and doing so much, that Acan is again increasing its smelting capacity in both Quebec and British Columbia.

Reports and articles from Halton's Farmlands and Farm Organizations

Amend Brucellosis Act Effective on October 1

After October 1, the cost of vaccinating all female calves in supervised areas will be borne by the province of Ontario. The Brucellosis Act, 1956, has been proclaimed and will come into force on October 1.

Tetra Pekus Rye Is Worthwhile

"When are we going to get our fall wheat sown?" was a frequent inquiry heard the latter part of last week. On the heavy rains in particular, the summer fallows were saturated with water.

Normally, we like to see fall wheat sown sometime between September 10 - 20, with September 25 as about the final date. Weather conditions permitting, we expect to see a good deal of wheat go in the first part of the current week. Falling that, perhaps some Tetra Pekus rye would be worth considering.

N. J. Thomas, well known farm expert, when in the county on Thursday of last week, indicated he would prefer to take a chance on Tetra Pekus rye rather than wheat for late seeding. Mr. Thomas grew some on his own farm in 1956 and reports a yield of 50 bushels to the acre. The further south one travels, the more rye is planted. It is reported to be a safe crop of rye.

In contrast to the previous Brucellosis Act of 1953, every cattle owner must enter into an agreement with the minister, otherwise he will not be eligible to collect for vaccination services from the Ontario livestock branch.

The special prizes were given to farthest away, Mrs. Rachel Martin, Lenoira, Mich., oldest member, Mrs. Rachel Martin, youngest member, Cheryl Howden, Campbellville, longest married, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stephenson, Milton, most grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stephenson, spot dance, Mrs. Wilfrid Coulson, Hamilton and James Evans, Cedarville.

Dancing was really a family affair with grandparents and children dancing together to music supplied by the band orchestra. Everyone took a rest and refreshments were served at 11. Dancing was again enjoyed and the hall cleared gradually as each said good bye, in some cases for another year. A basket of goodies was sent to one who has been a regular attendee but because of illness was unable to be there.

Haltom cattle owners should also realize that failure to notify a veterinarian that he has a calf on hand, renders such cattle owner liable to be charged with an offence under the Act.

Generally speaking, the degree of immunity does not vary within the age limits prescribed for vaccination. However, U.S. authorities classify "official" veterinarians as calves vaccinated within the ages of six and eight months. Therefor, owners who are likely to be selling cattle for export should arrange to have their calves vaccinated when within these ages.

The new legislative provisions regulations to control the movement of cattle into the province of Ontario farmers who plan to make purchases of cattle from outside of Halton would be well advised to contact their local veterinarian or the Milton office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture prior to taking such action. In short, we are confident the new legislation will meet the general approval of Halton cattle owners, 90 per cent of whom in 1954, petitioned their respective township councils to make calfhood vaccination compulsory.

It is our understanding that of final releases on the subject will be made to the agricultural press, all dailies, weeklies, and all radio stations, so we would suggest that our readers be on the lookout for further details.

While there have been more larger entries in previous years, we think this year's entry is probably the best yet. The year with which farmers have had to cope. A total of 20 breeders have made entries. Their action under the existing conditions, indicates that they are to their respective breed and also a realization that they are advertising.

In this connection we were interested in a comment made recently by Prof. M. W. Staples, of the animal husbandry department at the O.A.C. "Show ring awards normally mean that a breeder can secure $50 more per head for his surplus heifers."

Incidentally, the veteran Oswald Westman of Brampton will be of-fering in the Jersey ring, Douglas Dunlop of Brampton in the Holstein ring and Wm. Brooks of Paris in the Guernsey ring.

Large Junior Show
The 4-H's will also be out in full force in fall club work there.

Beth McEnery, 16 Pumpkin Queen

An interesting and new feature of the Acton Fall Fair on September 14 and 15 was the Central Ontario Pumpkin Contest sponsored by the Society. Last spring the Society, as a result of publicity aid from George S. Atkins of the C.B.C., offered to supply a package of pumpkin seeds to all 4-H club members who made application to the Society secretary, Mrs. C. W. Swackhamer.

As we understand the story, a total of 90 such applications were received — some from across the border in the U.S. In any event, 12 young people exhibited their mammoth pumpkins at the Acton Fair. When the judging was completed, including the weighing, etc., the red ribbon was awarded to the pumpkin grown and exhibited by Beth McEnery, 16, of Bal-lantrath. An attractive float, decorated with the 12 pumpkins and other agricultural products and of course bearing the Pumpkin Queen, was a feature of their un-dullective livestock parade.

GOOD START
TRAIL, B.C. (CP) The Trail and District Senior Citizens Villa has raised $40,000 towards a $100,000 housing project for elderly citizens. It is proposed to build 10 single and 11 double housing units.

On top of all this entry would indicate that in the inter-club educational sections there should be upwards of 30 educational club displays.

It goes without saying that as usual, agricultural representatives Art Bennett and A. T. Woodley, Chairman of the Club Leaders' Advisory Committee, will have a busy time ahead of them the end of the current week.

As we write this the members of Halton's First Year 4-H Grain Club will be playing their entries at the Georgetown Fair. The Acton 4-H Grain Club members who were originally scheduled to have their Achievement Day at the Acton Fair are going to the late harvest holding it at a later date.

URGE INSURANCE
LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP) The public school board here has re-commended voluntary accident insurance for all pupils, subject to approval of parents.
