

County Endorses Nelson Resolution Protecting Residences From Industry

This increase would bring salaries up to the standards of falls in the province.

Application for permission to cross a county road was made by the Nelson Co. located near the Highway 101. Council decided it was a matter to be referred to both councils of Trafalgar and Bronte.

The chairman of the agricultural committee, A. R. Service, announced the county of Halton at the Royal Winter Fair. He said it was the youngest team ever to attend from the county and their coach, Art Bennett, was to be congratulated. He announced his committee would be requiring an appropriation to provide recognition for the team.

Aggressive Jail Addition
Council gave the green light to the building committee to proceed with an addition to the jail at a cost of $25,000, providing suitable grants can be arranged with the Department of Refractories and Andean Construction of Brampton was the successful bidder.

Officials of the United Suburban Gas Co. were present to present a by-law to allow them to lay transmission lines on county roads, naming some 2,600 feet at Stewart town.

Considerable discussion arose over the clarification of one clause which would permit the county to immediately repair a sunken trench and charge the company for the work to be done. Also if the county would be liable for some expenses should a transmission have to be moved to another location at some future date.

When council wished to refer the by-law back to the road committee for further study and revision, John Evans, company solicitor, informed members subscribers in Stewart town were now cold as gas was not available for their heating units.

Readings Given
"It's your fault you didn't bring this before council before now," object to people charging in here and wanting to get things done in a hurry," Reeve R. H. Shannon, Burlington, stated.

Mr. Evans said his company was in the hands of council and were anxious for their advice. He further explained he could not present the by-law earlier as it was only last week approval was granted by the Fuel Board.

"I think this should go to the committee, to draft the by-law satisfactory to both parties. It is not our intention to block you," Warden Allen stated.

Dr. R. Buckner Takes Clergy on Wing Tour

Clergy of the town took a conducted tour of the Neuropsychiatric wing of the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph on Wednesday, November 7, as guests of Dr. R. D. Buckner. The program began with coffee and a briefing on the main purpose of the wing being accomplished in the Neuropsychiatric wing.

In company with Dr. Buckner and the staff psychologists, the clergy had interviews with various inmates who had been helped in their adjustment under the direction of Dr. Buckner. The young men who were interviewed and questioned gave a clear indication to the clergy that their attitudes to life were completely changed and that they would not return to the outside world with a healthy mental outlook.

The clergy were impressed with their desire to serve society and the fact that they appeared to have the best interests of society at heart.

These inmates mentioned to the clergy on that before being incarcerated, they hated authority, the police and all others who represented authority to them, but they now felt that this authority was constituted for their own welfare and for the welfare of society as a whole. These interviewed by the clergy included a drug addict and a sex deviate.

The clergy were particularly impressed with the fact that some of the inmates give valuable assistance to Dr. Buckner and his staff in the treatment of their fellow inmates. One particular inmate impressed them considerably with the intense amount of satisfaction which he had derived from group therapy and other treatment offered by Dr. Buckner and his competent staff members.

Dr. Buckner paid tribute to the Rev. W. O. Straw, the Chaplain of the Ontario Reformatory, for the invaluable work he was doing, particularly in the rehabilitation of the prisoner after he has served his time and paid his debt to society. Dr. Buckner informed the clergy that he sincerely believed that the clergy should play a necessary part in rehabilitation. He felt that they should take over after the inmate had received psychiatric treatment and had been released back into society.

Following this fascinating and instructive tour of the ladies at heart, the clergy were served luncheon in the staff dining room.

Hostesses in charge of the refreshments served were Mrs. Hill Elliott, Miss Mainprize, Mrs. Grindell, Mrs. Jack Denny and Mrs. Bill Davy.
