

Hog Marketing Winner 88.2% Grade A Other Competitors Have Big Percentage

The awards in Halton's Grade A Hog Marketing Competition were revealed recently at a meeting of the executive of Halton's Hog Producers' Association.

That it can be done, providing the hog producer has the right plans of hog, follows good methods of feeding and management, and finally gets them off to the market at the right weight, is substantiated by the fact that the winner had 45 Grade A hogs out of a total of 51 hogs marketed, which figures out to 88.2 per cent Grade A's.

No less than eight Halton producers had an average of 70 per cent Grade A's or better. Among this group is a producer who had 76.9 per cent Grade A's on a total of 103 hogs marketed, and still an other with 70.8 per cent Grade A's on 294 hogs marketed.

That these achievements are really outstanding will be more readily realized when one notes that the percentage Grade A's for Canada in 1955 was 31.9 per cent and for Halton, 85.2 per cent.

We understand from president Ed Davenport that the announcement of the prize winners and the presentation of the awards will be made at the annual meeting of the Association which is scheduled for the Farmers' Holiday in Milton on Tuesday, February 26. Another feature of the program will be a panel discussion on Feeding, Management and Marketing of Hogs when it is expected some of the top producers will reveal how they do it.

A crucial debate on the Middle East dispute opened in the United Nations General Assembly on Monday. The key point being Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's report on Israel's delay in pulling her invasion forces back since the 1949 Palestine armistice line.

Hammarskjöld informed the assembly last Friday that Israel had not yet fully complied with five resolutions calling for withdrawal of its forces. He said numerous political and legal barriers prevent the U.N. from accepting Israel's conditions for a complete withdrawal.

Israel still held two areas seized in the invasion last fall, the Golan Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba. Israeli troops it must have from Israel tested before pulling those areas.

Sharm El Sheikh guards the Gulf of Aqaba. Israeli troops with the Red Sea. Prior to the October 1948 invasion, the area had been under Egyptian control. The Golan Strip on the Mediterranean coast was captured by Israel in 1948. It is a strategic area and has been changed to a base for Arab troops since 1948.

seen as a well-meaning man who talks too much.

The statement came as Dulles was testifying Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees in support of President Eisenhower's proposals for powers to block Communist expansion in the Middle East.

Dulles was asked why the U.S. government had not sought a British and French commitment to help in any fight against Communist aggression in the Middle East. He said, "Serious consideration should be given to Arab hostility resulting from the recent fighting in Egypt. Then said, 'Personally, I'd rather not have a French and British soldier beside me, one on my right and one on my left.'"

Every London newspaper greeted with the same "safer without British" theme. Editorial comment was a mixture of resentment and amusement. The Times called Dulles' remark "blatant" but dropped it as another of his irritating gaffes.

In Washington, state department officials were concerned over the incident. White House press officer Lincoln White, after consulting Dulles, tried to offer a reason with an assurance that Dulles did not mean to insult British and French troops.

White said as far as the state department is concerned, there are some who value more highly as of late. He said Dulles had been speaking "colloquially" in the context of the U.N. resolution calling for the evacuation of British and French troops from Egypt.

In many Pakistan centres, people wore black bands with the slogan, "India, hands off Kashmir."

The demonstrations followed the announcement of Jammu, Kashmir, that the part of Kashmir which has been occupied by Indian troops is now an "integral part of the Indian union." India and Pakistan occupy separate areas of Kashmir, divided by a cease-fire line.

Most Pakistan newspapers welcomed the U.N. Security Council's latest resolution last Thursday calling for maintenance of the status quo in Kashmir while the future of the area is being discussed. But in India, newspapers were unanimous in condemning the resolution.

Convention Broadcast Is First for Halton

A committee to handle publicity at radio, TV and newspapers for the Halton Progressive Conservative Association has been set up, consisting of John Hammons of Bronte, Brigadier James Roberts of Oakville and Leslie M. Clark, Georgetown. Their first project was to arrange for coverage for the convention.

The convention scored a "first" when the Oakville radio station covered the event and took a tape recording of the entire proceedings. It was later broadcast and a rebroadcast made. Both Nandy Bee's nomination speech and his acceptance speech after his election were given in full.

This is the initial time in Halton that an event of this nature has been covered by radio.

Seed Grain Shortage Cancels Fair Will Hold New Seed Display Day

Due to the shortage of seed grain in Halton, the officers and directors of the Halton Seed and Crop Improvement Association have decided not to attempt the usual Seed Fair in 1957. However, we understand from Maurice C. Beatty, president of the Association, that in place of the competitive Seed Fair, a Seed Display Day will be held in the Agricultural Hall at the Milton Fair Grounds on Saturday, March 23.

This will provide an opportunity for those with seed for sale to have it on display and thereby contact prospective buyers. Only lots which are backed by government grade, which includes a germination test will be allowed on display. This means that those who have seed grain for sale should get their sample or samples away at once to the Plant Production Service, 96 Collier St., Toronto.

Each year a cash prize is given to the Seed Display Lot with the highest germination test. The prize will be $100.00. The contest will be held on Saturday, March 23, at the Agricultural Hall at the Milton Fair Grounds.

Outstanding Program

The program will feature a display of the latest seed grain, including educational displays and a seed judging competition in the morning. The afternoon program will be a series of talks by experts on the importance of seed grain. The speakers will be Professor N.
