Deformed Calf Has Bleak Future With Three Legs

A calf born Saturday morning on the Halseville farm of J. Eckbrecht (Deercroft Farm) has two big question marks in its life now—why was it born without any trace of a right front leg and what does the future hold in store for it?

Right now, the wee fellow doesn't appear too worried about it, because the rest of his black and white body is perfectly normal. His hobbling around in the pen with his mother and doesn't seem to have any thoughts of his future, other than making sure mother's still there to give him his next meal.

But the owner of the three-legged animal is thinking of the future. For the present, Mr. Eckbrecht plans to keep the deformed calf in good health and see what happens as he grows up. It could be that the left front leg will be strong enough to hold his body—but then again, as the animal gets heavier the weight may be too much for the lone limb.

How Mother Nature happened to play this trick on the animal isn't yet understood. There is nothing in the ancestral history to point to any disfigurement, so the cause can't be hereditary.

It isn't the first time something has gone wrong with a birth on the Eckbrecht farm. A few years ago, a cow which was blind in one eye gave birth to a calf with a blind eye.

The calf was born in the pasture early Friday morning and was carried into the barn. It wasn't until supper time when someone noticed the leg was missing. The animal bears no trace of the leg—there isn't even any shoulder or stump of a leg when it hobbles. The shoulder muscles twitch and jump as if the leg were there.

Cancer Study Shows Increase in Cases

A cancer incidence study being conducted in the province of Newfoundland by the National Cancer Institute of Canada indicates that out of every 100,000 population about 250 new cancer cases appear each year.

The study, which is supervised by Institute statistician Dr. A. J. Phillips, shows that between June 1 and December 31 of last year, 401 new cases of cancer were diagnosed in the province. Of these, 272 were males and 129 females.

This was ascertained through reports from the province's 100 practicing doctors who are co-operating with the survey by reporting all cases of cancer as soon as possible. Also co-operating with the fact-finding is the Newfoundland branch of the Canadian Cancer Society which is providing the money for the survey.

The Newfoundland study is in the nature of a pilot study and the lessons learned there will help with studies in other provinces.

"Cancer incidence studies," Dr. Phillips explains, "are an important adjunct to our understanding and control of this disease."

"Very few countries have conducted such studies and up until now, most cancer statistics are based on cancer deaths (about 20,000 in Canada annually). Before we can tell exactly what progress we are making in the control of the disease, we must know how many people are getting the disease, what sites are affected, the history of the treatment and the results of that treatment."

The National Cancer Institute hopes to extend this Newfoundland study to every province in the Dominion so that a complete story of progress in cancer treatment may be put together. Discussions have already taken place on plans for studies in Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Ottawa first collected income taxes from Canadians in 1919. In that year federal income taxes paid by individuals totalled $3 million, compared to $1.25 billion today.

JACK HENRY, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate for Halton, is a carpenter by trade and has resided in the riding for the past ten years.

Active for many years in the labour movement, he is now Vice President of the Oakville and District Labour Council, Recording Secretary of the Oakville Carpenters Union, and a delegate to the Toronto and District Council of Carpenters.

Jack is an executive member of the Halton CCF and his interest in politics is shared by his wife who is playing an active part in his campaign. At the present time he is building his own home on the second line in Trafalgar township. He is an active member in the Toastmasters Club of Oakville.

JACK HENRY says to the voters of Halton County
When you go to the polls on June 10 I would ask you to remember two things:
1. You are voting for a person who is to represent your interests in the House of Commons.
2. You are endorsing a stated policy that you believe will be good for YOU and good for Canada.

I'm sure you will agree with me that the CCF is the only party whose program would be good for you and good for Canada.

AFTER ALL, WILL IT REALLY MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE IF YOU SEND A CONSERVATIVE OR A LIBERAL TO OTTAWA? ONE MORE OLD PARTY REPRESENTATIVE WON'T MEAN ANY CHANGE, WHETHER IT BE TORY OR LIBERAL. WHAT REALLY COUNTS IN THIS ELECTION IS HOW MANY CCF VOTES ARE CAST AND HOW MANY CCF MEMBERS ARE SENT TO OTTAWA!

There is one very real DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE CCF AND THE OLD PARTIES and that is that the CCF will work in YOUR interest because they believe it is right. The other parties will grant you a concession only when they have to in the hope of getting your vote at election time.

Remember also that there are only two ways that you can lose your vote:
1. BY NOT VOTING AT ALL.
2. BY VOTING FOR A PARTY YOU DON'T REALLY WANT.

Stand up and be counted as a champion of freedom and fair-play by casting YOUR vote for your CCF candidate.

Start Building Fire Research Headquarters

Construction has started at Ottawa of a three-quarter million dollar fire research building for the Division of Building Research of the National Research Council. Planned for completion by the end of 1957, the building will be equipped in 1958 with special testing furnaces, large enough to handle full sized building elements such as walls, beams and floors.

Before the end of next year, therefore, Canada will have in active use a fire research installation which will rank with those of the U.S.A. and the United Kingdom.

Following several years of study during which visits were paid to most of the other fire research laboratories of the world, a suitable site was chosen on the grounds of the Montreal Road Laboratories of the National Research Council.

This is on a rise of ground to the right of the access road leading from the Montreal highway and bounded on the east by the road leading to the Radio and Electrical Engineering Building. This site offered numerous advantages, such as solid rock close to the surface which would provide an excellent base for the heavy equipment to be installed in the furnace laboratory of the building and a relatively easy connection to the main tunnel linking the various National Research Council laboratory buildings, with only a relatively short reach of tunnel to the Building Research Centre.

The three main functions of the building are: (a) fundamental studies on combustion problems, as well as those of extinguishment; (b) applied research involving the fire testing of structural elements, and studies into the development of fire in buildings and between buildings using model techniques, tests on hose, small portable pumps, etc. and (c) field studies involving the evaluation of extinguishing agents on flammable liquid fires, demonstrations of portable pumping units, etc.

Over 250 Attend Teachers Dinner

Culminating the In-Service Training Program for Halton teachers for the school year, the group combined with the county Men Teachers' Federation and the county Women Teachers' Federation for a dinner at Glenwood Public school, Burlington, Monday evening of last week. Over 250 attended.

Guest speaker Rev. A. M. Laverly, padre of Queen's University, urged the teachers and parents to let the children make some mistakes in his talk on "The Younger Generation." He explained they learn from their errors and a few mistakes will help give them a sense of responsibility.

Adults should be informed about issues in government, the speaker said, as being informed is part of our responsibility to our country. The speaker pointed out that in election times and then interest is likely to be of a partisan nature—a poor example to youngsters.

Others who spoke to the gathering were Mrs. R. N. Dobson, chairman of T.S.A. No. 1, Nelson, and John A. Lockhart, Mayor of Burlington and formerly principal of Central public school in Burlington. Chairmen for the evening were Mrs. Leslie Horning of Bronte, president of the Women Teachers' Federation, Morrell Acheson, chairman of the training committee, was host of the evening. Noble H. Stevenson of Burlington is the president of the County Men Teachers' Federation.
