The United Nations command in Korea has notified the North Korean and Chinese Communists that new weapons will be introduced to counter the build-up by North Korea in alleged violation of the 1953 armistice.

Premier Kim II Sung of Communist North Korea then proposed an immediate conference of all countries "concerned in the solution of the Korean question."

A broadcast by Peking radio and the North Korean Communist leader did not elaborate on what sort of conference he had in mind. He said "the unification of Korea should be left to the Koreans themselves by withdrawing all foreign troops from Korea instead of introducing new weapons into South Korea."

Fighters

The United States began sending modern, faster-than-sound jet interceptors to South Korea this week to counter the reported build-up of Communist fighters and bombers in North Korea.

An undisclosed number of F-100 jets plus probably other new jet planes, including light bombers, are destined for the big American base at Osan in the first step taken by the UN command to modernize its forces in Korea. New-type arms for Americans and fantrymen are also slated to arrive soon, and the US also will give new equipment to the 700,000 South Korean troops manning the major portion of the 155-mile defensive line across the peninsula.

The new US planes can carry atomic bombs.

An American general told the Communists at Pusanman that the UN command would no longer recognize the true provocation against bringing new arms into Korea because the Communists had been violating it since the fighting stopped in July, 1953.

Japan Withdrawal

About 30,000 United States ground combat troops will start pulling out of Japan next month.

"Political Pressure Exerted On Us," Says Planning Board

OAKVILLE — Political pressure and intimidation exerted on Ratepayers' Board by ratepayers was disclosed in a letter submitted by the Trafalgar Planning Board to the Joint Planning Board last week.

The allegations, regarding the recenting of the area west of Boone by ratepayers, were contained in a brief from C. D. Chalmers, secretary of the Trafalgar Planning Board, to the Joint Planning Board.

"It has been shown by past events," the letter stated, "that the public in that area had been permitted and even encouraged to exert political pressure on the planning board. Some ratepayers have even attempted to influence these bodies, in an attempt to influence their recommendations."

"The local obsession with consulting public opinion, through petitions and delegations, is an obstacle to the efficient operation of the Board. No plan of any merit can ever result from such procedure."

The brief announced the Lands Use and Development Committee's following resolution adopted by the Trafalgar Planning Board on May 27:

"It was never intended that decisions regarding rezoning and other proposals should in any way end up as a public opinion poll. The Board feels, in the best interests of the community and the public welfare, will accept . . ."

POET'S CORNER

HOW OLD ARE YOU?

How old are you? Have you reached the stage? Where you're really concerned about your size?

Do you worry your mirror with brows and sighs? Tracing the crook of your nose? Your hair is it gray and thin?

Do you see the lines of another chin? Do you hold your breath on the bathroom scales? And shake your head at the diet that fails?

Your pulse is alive, your heart still beats;

There's millions like you on the busy streets; The sun still shines, and the sky's still blue . . .

And both, my friend, are older than you!

Beauty will live in a wrinkled face; If the heart is full of the Lord's good grace.

Don't bother your mirror and soon you'll be old as you want to be!

ST. JOHN'S, NFNL (CP) A provincial survey has shown an estimated 6,500 caribou in Newfoundland, a number much less than many guides and woodsmen would have thought existed, said the Newfoundland mines and resources department.

While the American ships are in the north, a group of Canadian ships will also be in the area, taking 41,000 tons of cargo to arctic ports. Three icebreakers will be in the Canadian group.

The Northwest Passage was first conquered in 1906, but this is the first year it has been used for large-scale movement of supplies, and in many cases the ships will likely have to wait for the ice to pass along the route. But the Labrador had little difficulty making the trip and she draws 20 feet of water, nearly as much as the liner Queen Mary. The Labrador, 6,500 tons, was the first large ship to make the voyage but before her, the little RCMP vessel St. Roch did it twice, going west-to-east in 1942 and the other direction two years later.

French is threatened. Archbishop Maurice Roy of Quebec says the French language in Canada is "threatened as never before" by outside influences.

It was easy for Quebecers to retain their language and cultural heritage when there was less communication between Quebec and the rest of Canada and the United States. But increased activities on the cultural and commercial levels have changed the situation, Archbishop Roy said at a congress opening last week in Quebec to study means for "refranchisation" — means to make the language French again. It is an effort to keep English words from infiltrating the language.

Archbishop Roy said creation of one standard of French for all French-speaking Canadians across the Dominion should be considered.

Think you're a good driver? Why not test yourself by asking your severest critics — your family and best friends — what makes them nervous about your driving. Maybe you can all learn something from such an experiment.

Are you afraid to drive alone? Are you afraid to take your eyes off the road to see what's in the shop windows? Perhaps you never realized you do this. But it's right, it's a dangerous habit, and enough to make anyone nervous.

Are you nervous in traffic? In response to your question, your daughter will tell you she's nervous, too. She's nervous about the car she drives, about the car she's driving, about the car she's about to drive, about the car she's about to leave, about the car she's about to buy.
