

Canada's Past Greatness Shown at Ex Hall of Fame

Spacious new permanent quarters have been found for the Sports Hall of Fame at the Exhibition.

This collection of memorabilia of Canada's past greatness in sports is being relocated on the ground floor of the former Administration Building.

The Sports Hall of Fame has been expanded to include the A.A.U. of C. Hall of Fame collection as well as the National Hockey Hall of Fame.

Admission to the Hall of Fame is free. Students of sport may browse at will among the souvenirs of men and women who made the Dominion's name ring around the world with their sports feats.

Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt Officially Opens Ex Tomorrow

Ontario Lieutenant-Governor Louis O. Breithaupt will officially open the Canadian National Exhibition August 23, Fred T. Walsh, president of the C.N.E., announced.

Mr. Walsh explained it is fitting that the Queen's Representative in Ontario should take part in the first official luncheon in the building that bears Her Majesty's name. Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt will be guest of the director of the C.N.E. in the new $3,500,000 Queen Elizabeth Building on Opening Day. On his arrival he will inspect the guard of honor.

After lunch the official party will move to the Exhibition Bandshell where the Lieutenant-Governor will declare the Exhibition open for its 79th year.

During the 16 days of the Ex, August 23 - September 7, there will be many more things to see and do than ever before and generally more attractive places in which to view them and do them.

The new $3,500,000 Queen Elizabeth Building will be opened for the first time this year. It houses the executive offices of the C.N.E., the Queen Elizabeth Theatre, a complete 1350 seat theatre, equipped with all the latest features, and a large Exhibits Hall, where the activities of the Women's Department will be displayed under one roof for the first time in 23 years.

Also new this year is the International Building, formerly the Business Equipment Building, where the displays of 11 foreign governments will be shown. The governments building, which housed the international exhibits last year, was not large enough for all those who wished to take part this year, so it was necessary to use

The Acton Free Press.

"The greatest show on earth" RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY CIRCUS—Afternoon Grandstand (First week only Aug. 26-31)

Bob "Banana-Nose" Hope Show Headlines Grandstand Program

Bob Hope, radio, TV and film comedian, arrived in Toronto yesterday (Wednesday) to begin his rehearsals for the Canadian National Exhibition evening grandstand show, Canadians 57.

But the late arrival of the grandstand headliner does not mean that rehearsals are being delayed. For more than three weeks now, the cast of Canadians 57 has been rehearsing the numbers for what is considered the world's biggest annual revue.

New thrills, new music, new dances and new techniques will bring new thrills to the audience at this year's spectacular, produced and directed by Jack Arthur.

There will be a potpourri of ballet, music, drama and comedy in the 1957 edition of Canadians. Headlined by old Ski - Snoot Hope, the show will include Geoffrey Holder, Calypso King, Phyllis Marshall and Wally Koster, Canadian vocalists, Martha Ann Bentley, the ballerina, Velyn and Lu Varn French, and a cast of hundreds.

The 56 boys and girls who make up the chorus ensemble have been in rehearsal under the direction of Alan and Blanche Lund since July 29, and other acts have been sending themselves piecemeal to come together at the dress rehearsal into one finished spectacle.

Jack Arthur says that some of the mechanical innovations this year will give the show added pace and flash.

Construction engineers are completing four outside sets mounted on three electrically controlled turntables, which will give each changing scene the effect of melting into the one that follows.

They are also at work on the sizeable problem of giving the acres of grandstand stage a "curtain"—panels which will slide into place on a hidden track.

New Names, Building For C.N.E.'s Hall of Fame

Seven new names have been added to the honor roll at the C.N.E.'s remodelled Sports Hall of Fame. They are Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner, the University of Toronto twosome who won the world pairs figure skating competition at Colorado Springs last February. Gerry Gurllette of Windsor who won a gold medal at the Olympics in Melbourne with a perfect score in the small prone position shooting, and members of the University of British Columbia rowing four which won a gold medal at Melbourne. They are Archie McKinnon, Lorne Loosner, Walter D'Elford and Don Arnold.

All seven automatically qualify for entry into the Hall of Fame by reason of having won a world championship or an Olympic gold medal. This year C.N.E. visitors will see a remodelled Sports Hall of Fame in a new location. The exhibit has been moved from the Stanley Barracks building where it was first set up in 1954, to streamlined and larger quarters on the C.N.E. executive offices building, close to the fountain.

Transport Story is Retold in Coliseum

The history of transportation in Canada will be charted in displays in the Upper West Annex of the Coliseum.

The display will include the antique cars display, formerly seen on the mezzanine of the Automotive Building, as well as examples of all early methods of transportation.

There will be everything from cradles to canoes, from buggies to bicycles, as well as all other well known methods of conveyance from the beginning of transportation history.

There will be the bone type ice skates used in winter time to skate on frozen rivers and lakes of pioneer times, birch bark canoes and ancient buggies and cutters. Pictorial treatment will be given to the streets of Toronto in 1900, recalling fond memories of the "good old days", and pointing up the development of the city to the present one and a quarter million Metropolitan Toronto of today.

German Ride and Derby Racer Added to Expanding Ex. Midway

Two new rides have been obtained by Patty Conklin for his ever-expanding midway at the Ex.

These include a new German ride to which he has purchased the Canadian rights and a new Derby Racer. This latter is being housed in a permanent structure at a cost of $100,000.

The Derby Racer is one of only four such rides ever made, because of the initial cost of construction.

The Racer is a four track ride with horses set four abreast to give the impression that each rider is racing the other three in his set.

The new German ride, called the Wild Mouse, being introduced this year, has taken four years to perfect and is considered to be one of the most fabulous midway rides ever invented.

Square Dancing Helicopters Will Highlight Ex. Air Show

Square dancing helicopters will be a feature of the Canadian International Air Show which will be the highlight of the last two days of the Exhibition, September 6 and 7.

Helicopters from the United States Air Force will appear at the Air Show dressed in skirts and perform a complicated routine in the skies. The dancing helicopters will be only one of the many new sights to be seen at the International Air Show, Frank I. Young, chairman of the show committee, reports. There will be representative planes from most of the U.A.T.O. countries military forces as well as commercial
