County Declines Halton Deer Season Neighbour Councils Drop Open Hunt

There will be no open deer hunting season in Halton County this year, it was decided Tuesday at the September meeting of Halton County Council in the Court House, Milton. Halton had originally agreed to sponsor an open season in the surrounding counties, which would also permit licensed shooting in their own areas, but at Tuesday's meeting it was learned that 10 Ontario counties approached on the idea, neighboring Peel, Wellington and Waterloo had declined the offer.

Councillors agreed an open season here would make Halton a force to be reckoned with from the surrounding counties, also agreed to decline.

Council also made the first step toward hospital assistance when it gave two readings to a by-law to borrow $200,000 upon debentures for the purpose of granting financial aid to the new 50-bed Milton District hospital. Third reading will be given when Municipal Board approval is received and the first payment will be made on Oct. 15, 1958.

One Hospital Laundry

The possibility that the Oakville-Trafalgar Memorial hospital might be enlarged to handle the laundry of the new Milton, Burlington, Georgetown and South Peel hospitals on a non-profit basis was brought to light at Tuesday's meeting when the Burlington hospital board made the suggestion for county approval. The letter from Burlington suggested a meeting of representatives of each of the hospitals might be held with the thought of adding several thousand dollars worth of equipment to the already established Oakville laundry and taking in all the washing from the other hospitals.

"It would save at least $50,000 for the Burlington hospital," commented Reeve F. C. Atkinson of that town. He noted the Oakville-Trafalgar laundry is not used full-time at present and is taking in outside work to help pay for itself.

Councillors were pleased that the Burlington board had come to the county with the suggestion and appointed two members of the hospital committee to attend the proposed meeting to lend support to the idea and assist in whatever way is possible.

Reeve Stan Allen of Georgetown expressed the fact that Georgetown hospital had been mentioned in the Burlington letter. He said Milton is obtaining approval for their hospital and insisted Georgetown have representation at the meeting. Mr. Allen was appointed one of the county's representatives to the party.

Hear Weed Report

Newly-appointed weed inspector Vernon McArthur of Nelson township appeared before council to give a report on his work and explain the system of administration which embraces two township inspectors and several municipal inspectors. He noted weed control in the county had been appraised and 138 miles of shoulders sprayed on county roads and 380 miles sprayed, and 185 miles mowed by the townships.

He explained that below Highway 8 several acres of "weed" had been sprayed, but the situation is not as serious as above the highway where the weeds on second lands endanger crops on active farms.

In closing Mr. McArthur suggested some system of planned work through schools and organizations would be helpful in preventing weed nuisance.

In part two, Eric Goddard of Nelson asked council what action should be taken by municipal councils when accounts are submitted for uncollected fees. Other members recalled no results from a recent delegation to the Attorney General about the problem, and Reeve Allen noted that Peel county pays a full-time Crown Attorney. No decision was reached, other than sending another letter to the Hon. Kelvin Holcomb for some action.

Editor-in-Chief Accepts Awards For Acton Free Press, at Banff

The Acton Free Press was Wednesday named once again one of Canada's top weekly newspapers as it was awarded a third prize in Canada-wide competition. The award placed this newspaper third to the Delhi Ontario, News-Record, and Virdee, Manitoba, Empire-Advance, in the contest for the best all-round weekly paper having a circulation of between 1,000 and 2,500.

Editor-in-chief G. A. Dills accepted the award at the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention at Banff, Alta., where more than 500 editors from across Canada are meeting for the 30th annual convention of the Association. The award was presented at noon luncheon Wednesday.

Mr. Dills also accepted the award for the Milton Champion, which is printed in the Acton plant, which was received for placing second in the best all-round paper class for newspapers with 2,000 to 3,000 circulation.

Last year the Acton Free Press received three C.W.N.A. awards when Editor-in-Chief G. A. Dills accepted the M. A. James Memorial Shield for the best front page and second in the best all-round paper competition, and second in the best editorial page.

The only other newspaper in Halton winning prizes in the competition was the Okaville Journal, which won a first, a second and a third in the over 3,000 circulation class.

Each year the recognition of Canada's top weeklies through the annual C.W.N.A. awards is the highlight of the Association's convention. It is estimated that Canada has close to 800 non-metropolitan weekly, twice weekly and tri-weekly papers, the largest majority of which are members of the C.W.N.A. in Ontario alone there are over 200 weeklies.

Board Engages New Teacher Stop Noon Lunch at School

Chairman J. W. Wolfe presided at a full board of trustees meeting for September in the M. Z. Benn-H school on September 8 at 7:30 pm.

Principal G. W. McKenzie of the Robert Little school reported an overload of pupils and another teacher would be required.

The teacher engagement committee reported that Miss Wiele, Galt had been engaged this week. The board considered that they were fortunate in securing the services of an experienced teacher on such short notice and commended the committee on its good work.

The principal reported that one of the children had tripped over an iron coat and broken an arm. He introduced an insurance plan which the board approved.

He also reported that it was proposed to hold a monthly meeting of staffs of the two schools in order that pertinent subjects of school interest could be discussed among the teachers and that uniformity be kept at all teaching levels, which met with the full approval of the board.

Appropriately expenditures were approved for home economic and kindergarten - primary requirements. Approval was given for necessary approved books.

Study Authority N. Urban Board

The controversial issue of the legal status of the North Halton Urban Board raised its head again last night (Wednesday) when the Acton, Georgetown and Milton representatives met in Milton for the regular meeting.

Secretary Jack McGeachie informed members of the tri-town board that Requesting township had questioned the Department of Municipal Affairs on the board's actual legality to make expenditures and enter into contracts, and the Department in turn took issue with the board's legality. The secretary said the Department even questioned the integrity of the auditing firm, which does the board's books, and threatened loss of the firm's license for conducting an improper audit.

Correspondence from the Department recalled the Municipal Board has no record of issuing an order making the board legally constituted, so it could not enter any contracts or make expenditures, and any present contracts are void.

Board members reviewed the board had acted only in an advisory capacity to the three councils thus far, and had not signed any contracts but had instead referred them to the respective councils for ratification.

Although suggestions were given that the board should now be legally constituted, members decided to carry on in its present capacities.

Other subjects under discussion included Crown Attorney Dingle's accounts, which will not be settled until the county council gives its report, discussion of the varying fire area contracts as yet unratified in Milton and Acton, and swapping of ideas on noise by-laws, trailer by-laws, building permit fees, water meter charges, licensing of tradesmen from other towns, and the proposed Bell Telephone increase.

Acton Planning Board Complete By-Law Consultant to Study Annexation Plan

The Acton Planning Board, with planning consultant Allan P. Deacon present, completed their study of the proposed zoning by-law at their regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Deacon explained to the board there had been a change in the policy of the Department of Planning and Development from the time the original plan had been made.

"If a property is presently commercial, there is no use in calling it otherwise," stated the planning consultant. He continued to stress his opinion the Department should abide by the official plan, which originally showed an area as residential which later had to be changed to commercial.

"Perhaps I got a little bit stubborn," explained Mr. Deacon, "but I feel that a change in policy is not justified and the case can be won if taken to a higher authority."

Mr. Deacon agreed with the attitude of the D.P.D. that an area is a camp area regardless of the company owning the property, until improvements had been made to alter it from that classification.

A discussion took place regarding the property fronting on No. 7 highway east of town and the consultant revealed the opinion of a Department member that although several commercial properties had located on the property mentioned, it should be classed as a residential zone.

"We cannot go too far with the zoning map at present," stated the planning consultant, "until some changes have been made. It would be poor policy to present the by-law to council until correct and after council approves it, a general meeting of all ratepayers can be called in order to explain the by-law to the people."

A resolution was presented from council asking the planning board to prepare a plan for annexation of surrounding areas for the town of Acton.

Mr. Deacon explained to the board a plan of annexation takes considerable time and study, and it is to the interest of the town to have the study initiated.

Planning board resolved to have Mr. Deacon begin a study of a proposed annexation area and report to the board at his earliest convenience.

The board authorized separation of land from E. Branda to J. J. Stewart.

The meeting adjourned at 11:20.

Converted Barn Burns Rockwood Warehouse Burns Estimate Loss at $40,000

A large barn recently converted into a modern warehouse belonging to the Michigan Bulk Company near Rockwood was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday evening.

The fire was first noticed by Rod Downs, a neighbour, who noticed what looked like steam coming from the building.

It was estimated to be well over $40,000 that was covered by insurance. Fireman Cliff Meadows said that the building would have burned even faster had the asphalt shingles on the roof prevented it. The sky was bright orange from Rockwood village and some thought in the village that a woodshed section north of Rockwood was burning. Choking off flames could be heard two miles away.

The warehouse was located on lot six of the seventh concession of Etanville township and was completely modernized with oil heating. The day before $130,000 worth of bulk had been shipped to customers through the Guelph post office.

Goodman said he had no idea of the cause of the fire and that a regular check had been made of the premises only a short time before as was done every evening.

The modernized farm home north of the barn was not damaged, the only loss Mr. Goodman posts to rebuild at once.

Converted Barn Burns

The board was advised that Mr. Downs would lead a fire at both schools. The board approved the P.E. requisition, also authorized purchase of additional bicycle racks.

Now that schools were conveniently located, the board adopted a policy of no noon lunches at the schools, exceptions to the rule to be made personally with the principals.

The Finance statement of $5,004.03 was presented, approved and payment authorized.

The meeting ended at 9:00 pm.
