Round the World On Farming Tour

CALGARY (CP) — Arthur Williams, a young Australian farmer on a round-the-world agricultural tour, plans to open an Australian version of the Canadian "steak house", an idea he picked up in Calgary.

Mr. Williams stopped here recently after completing 30,000 miles of a world tour to gather agricultural information for use down under. He liked the idea of the steak house, and said he found Canadian steaks "good but tough" compared to Australian beef. He blames the long, cold winters in this area for the toughness.

Mr. Williams says he has gathered a wealth of information so far and hopes to get more in the United States, Argentina and other countries before returning to Australia.

"Much of it can be utilized on farms in Australia," he said.

Mr. Williams is president of the agricultural bureau in Dora Creek, near Sydney, where he and his mother operate a combination poultry and Hereford farm.

"From what I've seen," he said, "farming conditions in Canada and Australia have much in common." A fear that high prices may drop has caused many Australian farmers to move away from sheep farming to cattle farming, Mr. Williams said. Cattle stations (they're called ranches here) are becoming more commonplace throughout the country.

Mr. Williams is making his trip as a hitch-hiker, working to meet expenses when he runs short of cash.

LEGION NEWS

Six new members were welcomed to the Legion at the regular meeting last Monday evening in the Legion auditorium.

The initiation committee inducted Gordon "Halley" Donald, Bill Franklin, Fred Sturk, Canda Edwin Pope and Alex Frank as full-fledged members and comrade in arms.

The poppy day canvass is coming up soon and volunteers are needed, so help us, comrades. Contact Al Irwin and lend a helping hand.

Christmas is not too far away and volunteers are going to be needed, so let's make it a nice one for the children and all get out and pitch in.

Dude Lindsay has the start towards all up now and waiting for more volunteers in order to organize a league. With only a few volunteering so far, Dude is wondering where all the feather tips are.

A delicious and pleasant surprise was enjoyed after the regular meeting on Monday night when President Vic Patrick presented a roast of venison, freshly cooked by good wife Phyl, and also buttered bread with spanish onions and pickles for refreshments.

President Vic says thanks should go to his boss, Cliff Bradley for having such a keen eye during the hunting season.

Come on out to the meetings, comrades, surprises are in store for you.

Baptist Church Group Hold Thank-offering

The Baptist Women's Mission Circle held their fall thank-offering meeting Thursday evening October 3, in the church. The meeting opened with Hymn 201 and prayer by the president, Mrs. J. Chapman.

Mrs. B. Costerius' scripture reading was from Acts and stressed the need for us always being in readiness for the return of Christ. Special manual piano and organ numbers were played by Mrs. L. Bulmer and Helen Landsborough.

Mrs. C. Landsborough then introduced the speaker of the evening, Mrs. R. Wormald, missionary on furlough from Bolivia, who gave most inspiring and informative talk on customs and life in Bolivia. Mrs. Wormald's pleasing personality and gift of description held her audience's close attention throughout.

On behalf of Circle members and friends Mrs. D. R. Hutchinson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Wormald.

During the tea hour which followed, greetings were brought by.
