We don't expect anyone to risk their life on a slippery foof, but ans aure the toul to not try all year Could the clock not be fixed so it would strike before winter sets in and then if it stops striking during the winter, fixed again, as smill as weather in title." There is something so lacking

I have heard so many people about a Town Clock that does not strike I do not know of any other clock in a big tower that does not not strike New, I think almost peal forth the lour for all to hear Now, to change the subject, I felt real series of loss when the column "Chronicles of Ginger Farm" came to an end, but I think your own column "G.A.D. About" has taken its place nicely. While it is different entirely to "Chronicles of Ginger Farm", I think it is of more interest to Actonians, maybe, be-October 10th, 1957 there any remon why it cannot be local subjects Congratulations!
