Pastor Moti Lall

Veteran Indian Missionary To Visit Knox Church Acton

An outstanding Christian leader from India will be visiting Acton next Sunday. He is Pastor Moti Lall, veteran missionary, educator and evangelist on the Jhansi Mission Field.

A third-generation Indian Christian, through monumental labors for the Christian cause, he has become a convincing justification of the worth of the missionary enterprises in the Orient of the churches of North America.

Possessed of a gentle disposition and yet courageous in the best sense, Pastor Lall many years ago decided that every member of his family should receive a college education. This will be a great accomplishment if he can bring it to pass for Lall has a family of nine, seven sons and two daughters. And the price tag on a college education is high in India.

Stephen Lall, a son who is currently studying theology at Knox College in Toronto and who intends to return to his native India following his ordination status. As long as I can remember my father has got up at 4 a.m. every day and worked till midnight, doing translations and other work after his days ministry, to help pay for our education."

This indefatigable protagonist of education and the Christian way of life is scheduled to have a busy Sunday on February 16. He will speak to the children of Knox Presbyterian church in an open session of the church school and then preach at the morning worship service.

At two-thirty in the afternoon, he will address another gathering, augmented by friends from other Acton churches and some Presbyterian churches in the surrounding area. Between the morning service and the afternoon gathering, a luncheon will be tendered in his honor by officebearers of Knox church.

In the late afternoon Pastor Lall will journey to Kitchener for a radio broadcast and another preaching service at St. Andrews church there.

The minister of Knox church wishes to extend a cordial invitation to all Acton citizens to hear Pastor Moti Lall next Sunday afternoon.
