Grade Five Pupils Tour Bird Sanctuary Visit Museum, Hear Talk on Wildlife

Forty pupils from the Robert Little public school enjoyed an outing to the Bird Sanctuary near Eden Mills last Saturday. The boys and girls were from Mrs. Helen Black's grade five class and Keith Black's grade five. The weather was perfect for an afternoon outdoors, warm and pleasant with a blue sky overhead. Principal G. W. McKenzie likes the pupils to have an outing as a class at least once in the school year. Two other teachers accompanied the group, Mrs. J. Gamble and Mrs. Wood. Grover Mack took the visitors on a tour through the grounds where the many kinds of ornamental pheasants could be seen and

The pupils will be expected to write something about what they saw on their visit to the bird sanctuary, the trip being a lesson in observation as well as nature study.

Just before leaving, Mr. Black presented Grover Mack with a thermometer for his kindness in giving the afternoon to the children. Drivers of the cars who brought the children were N. Douglas, H. Cullen, C. Rognvaldson, D. Ryder, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. M. Symon and Mrs. W. Wolfe.

"For Home and Country" Theme 57th Halton W.I. District Annual

The 57th district annual of Halton County Women's Institute was held in Knox United church last week. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Somerville, district president. It opened with the Institute Oath followed by the Mary Queen of Heaven. A two minute silence was observed in memory of deceased members followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Advanced Indians in Northern B.C.

EDMONTON (CP)—John Kaasa, a northern explorer and nature photographer, says the Nishka Indians of the northern coast of British Columbia are "the most advanced and best educated Indians I have ever met."

Mr. Kaasa returned recently from a picture-taking trip to the tribe's remote village. "They are self-sufficient and have a wonderful community with their own light plant and water system," he said. "They teach up to grade eight in school, and some pupils are planning to come outside to finish their education."

The village minister is a native Nishka, and his congregation were all work on a $100,000 church, entirely built and paid for by the community.

Most of the Indians are hard-working fishermen, but they know how to enjoy themselves too, says Mr. Kaasa. The community has a 40-piece band that has won prizes in northern B.C. competitions.

The community's economy is built mostly on its fishing. "While game and seals are hunted for variety, the staple is the small fish called the ulichan, which is pickled and dried for the winter."

CLONE BEAVE, SURREY, B.C. (CP)—A bullet passed through John G. Wanke's right thigh and lodged in his left leg while he was working in his garden. A target-shooting neighbor's bullet had glanced off a board.
