ROCKWOOD Hold Funeral Service For Village Resident

Much regret is felt in the community in the sudden passing of Mr. Frank Speck at his home on Harris St. Friday morning.

Funeral took place Monday following removal of the casket from the Rumlum Funeral Home, Acton, to Waterloo Monday, where services were held in Grace Anglican Church, with interment in adjoining cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Verna Viola Crowe, brother, George Speck, step-daughter, Jean Dorland of Toronto, Mrs. D. Bothwell of Acton, H. E. Dorland of Byron.

Numerous floral wreaths bore silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Work on the two new classrooms at the public school is continuing. Windows are in place and that roof finished. Interior work is to be done in the next few weeks. S. Scheldt Contracting Co. of Hespeler is doing the work. The front end facing Guelph St. is finished to match the other portion of the main school building.

Mr. A. Gordon of Kingston was a recent visitor in the village with his father, Mr. Wm J. Gordon.

Mr. Gordon Carter and wife and family of Guelph are frequent visitors in the village.

Mr. Campbell Munro, a former Rockwood boy, was in the village during the Monday holiday.

His father, the late Hector Munro was formerly manager of Harvey Lane Kilm. adjoining Valley Road.

Local Visits
Since returning home from his vacation, Rev. G. A. H. Moore of the United Church, has been busy officiating at weekend weddings.

Rev. P. A. Sawyer again conducted service at St. John's Church on Sunday morning. Members of the church have been busy digging up big stones on the church lawn which will make it better for power lawn mowers.

Over the holidays passed off quietly in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd were up to Hantsville, recently where Miss Pat and Mary are working in a lodge during their holidays.

Princess Paves Through
In connection with the Royal Train carrying Princess Margaret to Stratford last Thursday a number of young people and adults gathered at the C.N.R. station. A few camera fans were also present but there was not much time to see the train.

Last week while riding her bicycle, Marjorie Bauer had the misfortune to fall off and sustain an injury to her left forearm. She is able to be around with the aid of a sling.

Caribou Project Trying to Save Dwindling Herds

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP) — A research team working out of tent camps in northern Saskatchewan is looking for ways to save what has been called the last north's most important natural resource.

Experts are trying to find what is happening to the caribou, on which Eskimos and northern Indians depend for food and clothing. Federal authorities have allotted $175,000 for the project.

The survey, launched a year ago and to be finished this fall, is to count the caribou and find out how it can be saved from extinction. If the rate of decline during the last five years continues for another five, there will be no more caribou.

Wolves kill 134,000 a year. Enemies include insects, parasites and disease. Unseasonable spring blizzards may cut down herds at calving time. New-born calves may perish in swift, ice-cold northern rivers.

Saskatchewan has already taken strong measures to conserve the remaining caribou. Only northerners traditionally dependent on it can hunt and the take during winter and spring is limited to three for each member of a family.

DON'T OVERLOAD
Here's a tip to weekend skippers. Don't overpower your boat. Many Canadians built boats carry a Department of Transport plate showing recommended power and load. Look for this plate when buying a Canadian made boat. Play safe for more fun afloat.
