

Warden W. E. Card Host At Annual Dinner Tues.

Reeve William E. Card of Oakville Halton county's 1934 Warden was host to county officials and employees at the annual Warden's dinner in the Pine Room of Oakville arena Tuesday December 18. Halton's accomplishments over the past year and her hopes for the future were discussed at length by various speakers during the four-hour program.

Howard Caine of Oakville was chairman for the event and after a toast chicken supper served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Oakville Legion Branch, introduced the head table including the Reeves of all Halton municipalities who work with the Warden on county council.

Solve Problems Now
Guest speaker Mrs. Mattie Curtis Reeve of Long Branch, and president of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves, praised the men and women of this area for solving their own problems as they arise. She warned that unless the municipalities could solve their own problems now, a set-up like the Metro Toronto management might necessarily come into force.

Emphasizing she was not against metropolitan government but favored local government better, the speaker suggested our forefathers fought for local government and it is our duty to preserve it.

"This area has a great future and I hope your representatives take advantage of the experience of others who wanted to keep on working along the same as the distressed joint services and amalgamation. Only by our sharing and working together can we hope to gain our ends."

Working Together
This area you people represent has a wonderful opportunity to do things together, she urged, and I hope to be at the first amalgamation you have.

Mrs. Curtis was introduced by Mayor William Anderson of Oakville and thanked by Reeve George Currie of Esquimaux. Margaret Card daughter of the Warden presented her with flowers.

Hobby is Hint For Yule Gift

Edward of all men to get in the hobby of Art. You have to do it right from your gift to the family. It is not only a hobby but a way of life.

If he collects things he'll well come to his presents in whatever form he chooses from stamps to books to toys and I can't wait to photograph records.

If he likes to garden, he'll buy a good eye on anything that will make his garden more fruitful. He'll be interested in the gifts of plants, flowers, seeds, tools, and a good book on gardening.

Perhaps he's following the new craze of collecting. Then he'll be interested in the gifts of stamps, coins, and other collectibles. He'll be interested in the gifts of books, records, and other collectibles.

If he likes to build or work in metal, he'll be interested in the gifts of tools, materials, and other collectibles. He'll be interested in the gifts of books, records, and other collectibles.

Busy Bees Plan Yule Cheer White Gifts for Children

The Christmas meeting of the Busy Bees Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. Murray Hayward was well attended with 15 members and one visitor present.

The meeting opened with the Institute Ode and Mary Stewart's hymn and each member answered the roll call with A Favorite Carol. White gifts were collected and will be donated to the Child Welfare Society.

Mrs. D. Henderson, Mrs. H. M. Loyal and Mrs. A. Allen were chosen to take part in the fun and varied survey.

The Third Meal
It was decided to participate in The Third Meal under the supervision of Mrs. F. Beck and Mrs. G.

Lawler, who attended earlier the training school in Milton conducted by the Home Economics Service of the Department of Agriculture.

The spirit and cheer of the community are to be remembered at Christmas with flowers in boxes. Mrs. A. Allen gave the thought for the day and Mrs. H. Laidlaw gave an interesting reading on Christmas in other lands.

The remaining program was taken up by singing, Christmas carols with Mrs. Hayward at the piano. The meeting closed by reciting the Lord's Prayer and Invokavit. Prayers on program after which lunch was served by the hostess.
