

Boys Swamp Maple Leaf Players To Receive Personal Autograph

youngsters to be properly dressed for their turnout at meetings, as he stressed the importance of appearance and stated, "People forget individual names but judge any organization by the appearance of each member."

All the fathers and sons were invited to pay a visit to the Boy Scout camp site at Burlington to camp for a weekend.

Sign Autographs

Two of the busiest men in Acton last Thursday evening were Bob Baun and Carl Brewer of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey team as they patiently autographed programs for all the young lads present at the banquet, at the conclusion of the program.

Lined up from one end of the gym floor to the other, boys three abreast bided their time as they waited their opportunity to personally greet two of the many heroes from the Toronto team.

The two players, target for a bombardment of questions from fathers and sons, stood their ground bravely under the barrage. All were answered in a very diplomatic way by the two defense-men.

Like the rattle of machine guns, questions popped from all corners of the gym floor with the main topic appearing to be, "What is the true story behind referee Red Storey?"

Carl Brewer answered by saying he was not qualified to give a complete answer but stated, "He was a good referee and good for the game of hockey and I hope he comes back."

Bob Baun: "I feel that officials in hockey perhaps take more abuse than officials in other sports... There is something we don't know about in this case and it will have to be worked out... Red Storey was one of the best in the league and I would like to see his return."

Many Questions

Question: "Who is the best player on the Leaf team?"

Brewer: "Frank Mahovlich. He has the most potential, I think, of any player on the team."

Question: "Who is the best defenseman in the league?"

Baun: "Doug Harvey. He runs the game according to his liking... He either speeds up or slows down the game as he wants... In my opinion, he is the greatest defenseman in the game."

Question: "Who is the fastest skater in the N.H.L.?"

Brewer: "I think Henri Richard is."

Baun: "I think Carl Brewer is."

Clives Advice

Carl Brewer advised the youngsters to learn to skate first in learning to play hockey. He stated, "The most important thing is your skating ability. Work at it." Brewer also informed the boys that scouts for the different teams would choose the stronger skater ahead of one who could stick-handle well, but not able to skate. "The coaches can teach you how to stick-handle," he added.

The children were also told they should have a devotion for the game and be willing to play and practice, giving up other forms of entertainment when necessary. "I am quite happy I gave up shows and dances to practice skating and hockey. It has been very rewarding," stated Carl Brewer.

Bob Baun, adding his comments, remarked, "Team play is one of the biggest assets you can have... There must be harmony in every organization."

The defenseman also advised the boys to join the Boy Scouts, as they would learn a lot which would be an asset to them in the future.

Following a toast to the Queen and grace by Rev. Gordon Adams, fathers, sons and guests enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, prepared and served by the Y Ladies Auxiliary, after which they joined in a sing-song led by Y's Man Ron Smith.

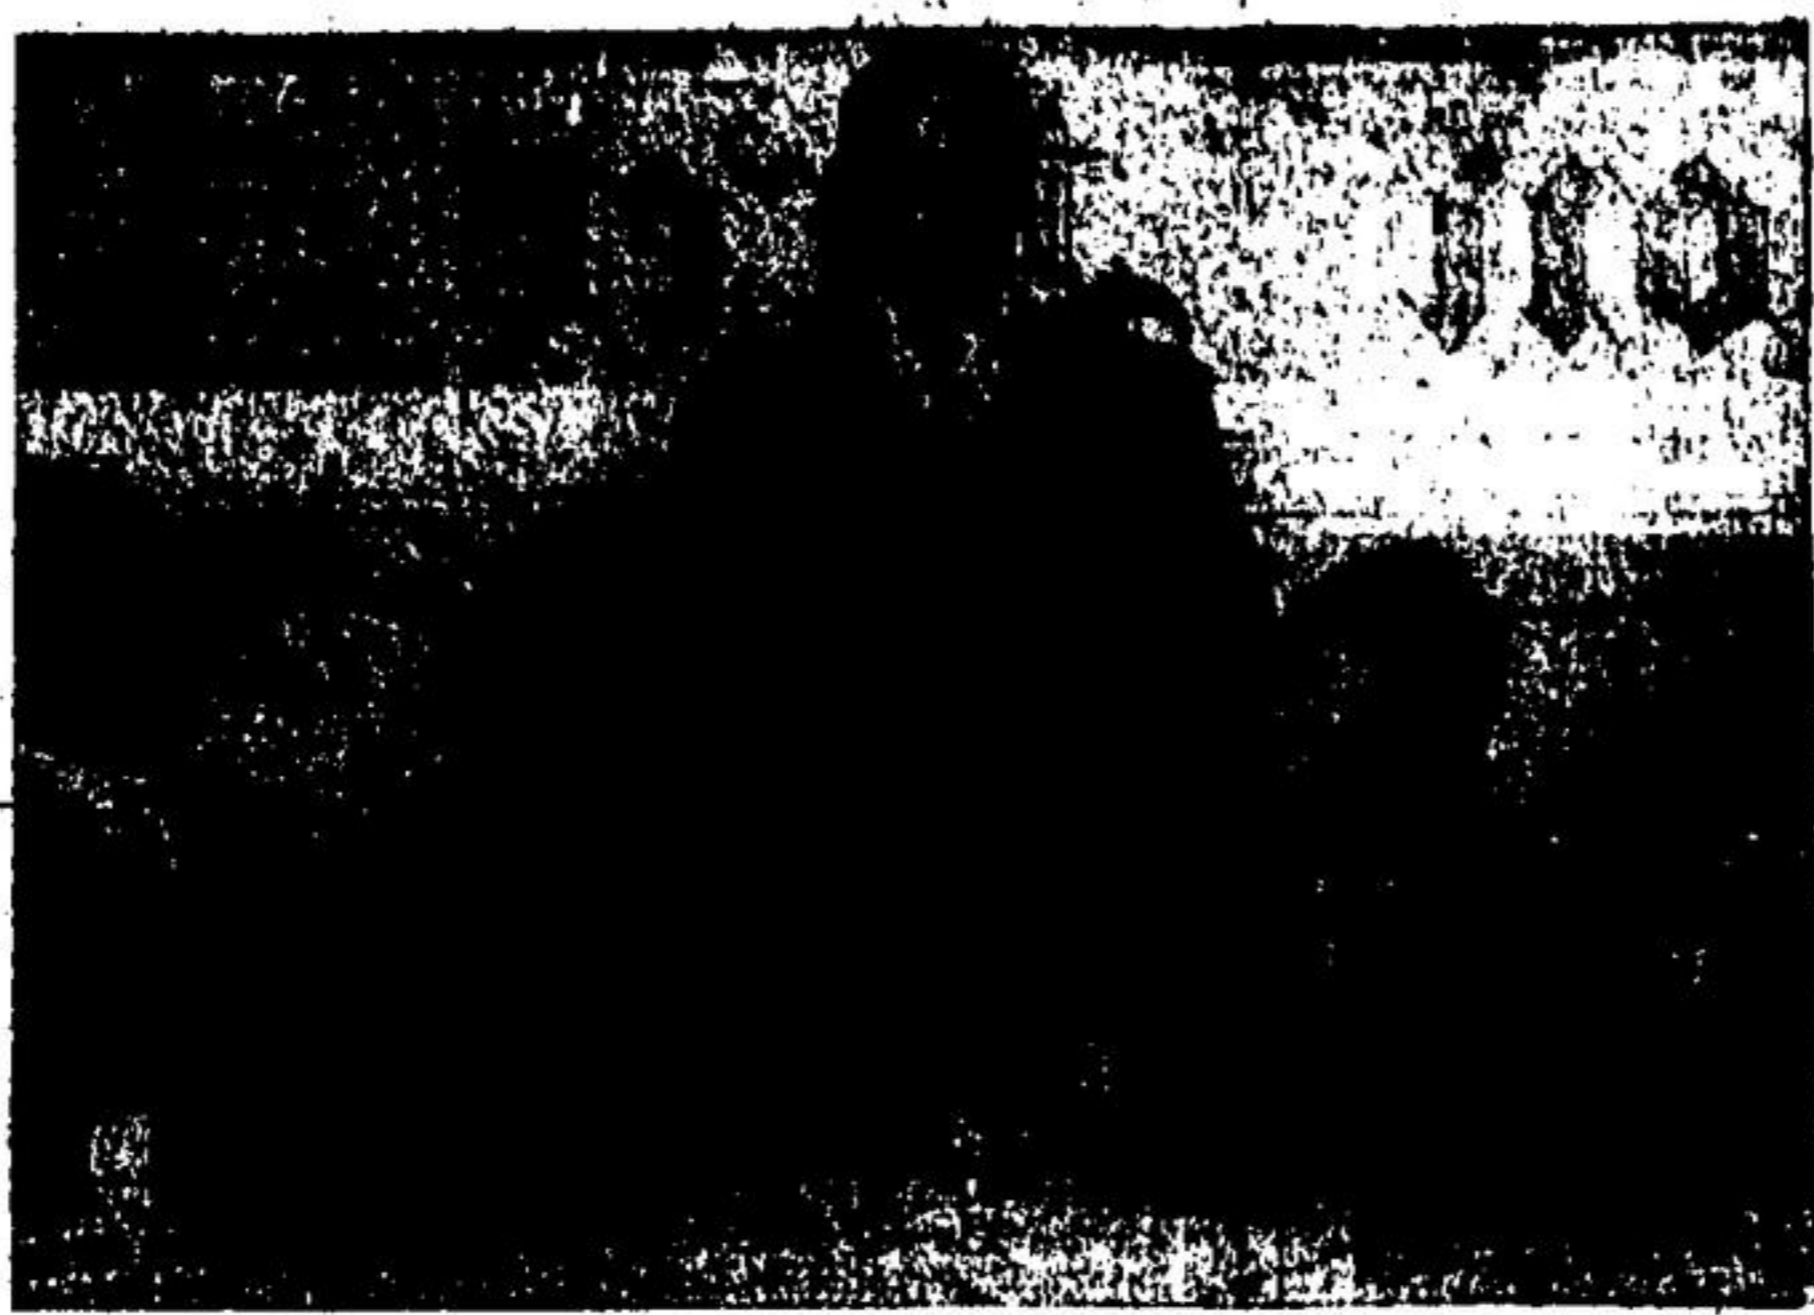

William Sprutson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Board, welcomed everyone to the 10th annual father and son dinner and congratulated the Y's Men's Club for stepping into the breach and handling the Y activities in the absence of a secretary.

In presenting a toast to the sons, Mansell Nellis stated, "Our greatest joy is caring for and helping to bring up our children." The toast was answered on behalf of the boys present by Andrew Smith.

During the entertainment, under the direction of Y's Man Bill Wilson, a musical trio consisting of Doug Copeland, Glenn Banks and David Griffith, entertained on the piano, accordion and guitar. They were joined by Carl Brewer as they sang a musical number.

Cerard Wieck gave two cornet solos, The Little Maestro and O Light Divine.

The following head table guests were introduced by W. D. Elmer Smith, president of the Y Board: W. Sprutson and his son David; Carl Brewer; Rev. G. Adams and his son Kenneth; Clarence Rogovalon and his son for the night, Rick St. Dennis; Scouter John Clarke and his son for the evening, Wayne Gordon; Mayor W. H. Cook and his son for the evening, Tony Harper; Mansell Nellis and his son Roy; Bob Baun; Ron Smith and his son Andrew; D. Copeland and his son for the evening, Jim Hill.

A SCOUT SHAKE is exchanged between assistant district commissioner John Clark of Burlington district and Mayor W. H. Cook of Acton, as Rev. Gordon Adams and two prospective cubs smile in approval. Scouter Clark was guest speaker during the 10th annual Father and Son banquet in the Y.M.C.A. last Thursday, April 23. Shown above left to right are: Kenny Adams, Scouter Clark, Rev. G. Rural Planning Vital Solicitor Tells Board

The Eramosa Township Council held a special meeting on Thursday evening of last week with members of Eramosa township planning board and the trustees of the two villages of Rockwood and Eden Mills in Rockwood Town Hall.

Reeve Joseph L. Oakes was chairman throughout the evening.

Also present was R. B. Hungerford, township solicitor, Walter Hunt, building inspector for Eramosa Township and Robert Hamilton, road superintendent.

Clarify By-laws

Reeve Oakes announced that the purpose of the meeting was to hold a discussion regarding the building by-law No. 9-1958 which deals with subdivision control and a restricted area by-law No. 11-1958, having to do with lot areas. Clarification of these by-laws was needed to aid the building inspector.

During the discussion, Mr. Hungerford drew attention to the point that restrictions were often made in rural areas regarding building because of health reasons.

Norman S. Marshall, Sr., Eden Mills and a member of the planning board, drew attention to a lot in the village that the owner wished to sell, located in an unsurveyed section of Eden Mills.

Explains Duties

Mr. Hungerford in continuing remarked that by-laws were designed to prevent further errors, adding that there should be plans for future development, or one day, a house would be standing where a road should be. Bad planning is to be avoided in rural areas as well as villages and he explained in detail the duties of the local planning board.

Mr. Hungerford suggested to the planning board members that when any important items came up before the Eramosa Planning Board be settled, that an appointment be made with the Community Branch of the Department of Development and Planning. They give general policy advice and are very helpful.

It was further suggested that when an amendment to an existing by-law must be made with regard to any property, that the township council offer to do so, if the Municipal Board gives approval and the property owner agrees to pay the costs. The local planning board's approval would still be necessary however.

Protection Costs

The matter of the cost of fire protection to village of Eden Mills was brought up for review, it being felt that it was a costly item.

"It is not our thought to impose on you," said Reeve Oakes. He then suggested that the Eden Mills trustees take time to consider the matter and consider a slight increase in the cost, advising the Eramosa council later.

Reeve Oakes asked the Eden Mills trustees to keep the road superintendent informed as to what was done by the neighboring township of Nassagaweya on village roads.

"The road superintendent's books are complicated and must be in order to get the road subsidies," said S. S. Royce, township clerk.

Reeve Oakes reminded the planning board members that they had far more authority than they had thought they had. He invited them to contact the Eramosa Township council any time they had problems and wished advice.

Have More Authority

"The time is coming when we will need the advice and help of the experts," said Mr. Marshall. He board would be making plans at their next meeting to discuss a new by-law for future subdivisions in Eramosa Township.

Reeve Oakes thanked everyone for attending the meeting, saying he appreciated the information given by Mr. Hungerford. He said, he felt that all had benefited. "It has been good information," he concluded.

Proposes $111 Million Plan For 1,500 Trafalgar Acres

Louis Mazuel, president of Trafalgar Wooding Woods Ltd., launched plans for $111,000,000 industrial, residential and commercial development covering more than 1,500 acres in Trafalgar Township, when he proposed construction of a 20,000 square foot industrial plant in Trafalgar Township Council last week.

The "Brainchild" of Trafalgar Township industrial commissioner George Findlay, the industrial plant is designed to accommodate four industries, each with 7,500 square feet of floor space.

Cost $200,000

It will be the first such industrial plant to be built in Ontario and will cost an estimated $200,000.

In making the proposal to council, Mr. Mazuel said construction of several such units is being contemplated on his company's 420 acres of industrial land. He said that if the need is shown for such buildings, 120 could be built.

Mr. Mazuel said the $111,000,000 development was a long range scheme that would cover a period of 10 years. He said it included $40,000,000 in industrial development, $50,000,000 in residential development and $3,000,000 in commercial development.

Had Property

He said he and his company have held most of the property since the early 1930s.

Development plans include the installation of necessary services.
