Surprise Order
From Maritimes

That advertisement in the Free Press are well and widely read was proved to Harry Nicols.

He has just received a letter from Wilson's Beach, Campobello Island, New Brunswick, ordering a suit. The writer says, "I saw your ad in the Acton Free Press, April 16," and continues to detail the particulars.

Mr. Nicols was so pleased he re-joyiced the information of his surprise order to advertising manager Henry Deveau this week.

B.T.I. Principal
Students Take Acton Service

The evening service last Sunday at Acton Baptist Church was conducted by Rev. A. C. McDowell, principal of the Baptist Training Institute of Toronto, and five of his students.

Charles Landsborough and Helen Landsborough presided at the organ and piano. Following the song service the quartette sang two numbers.

A young man and young woman gave personal witness of Christ's work in their hearts and of the help received at the Institute.

Mr. McDowell preached on "Having God at the Centre of Life."

Following the service five carloads of young people motored to rally at Cheltenham where the work of the Institute was presented in picture and story to about 80 persons.
