

40 Years Teaching at Acton School Miss Isobel Anderson is Honored

Prior to her retirement this term and the completion of forty years of teaching at Acton Public School, Miss Isobel Anderson was honored on Thursday evening, June 4, in the Robert Little school auditorium by Acton Public School Board, staff teachers and retired teachers of both the Robert Little and M. Z. Bennett schools during a short program and presentation.

Kitchen Sink At Club Auction

The annual Y Men's auction sale was again considered "very successful," according to officials. It was staged in the arena Friday and Saturday, and although some articles were rejected by all bidders, there were many sold at good prices to raise a good sum for the club's coffers.

Pipe Band May Play for Queen

It is possible that members of the Acton Junior Pipe Band may play for the Queen when she visits Quebec next month. Pipe Major Paul Cuddeback explains that part of the Acton band may combine with part of the Guelph Pipe Band to play for Her Majesty on July 2.

Council Tours Roads, Bridges

A special meeting of Fern township council was called by the reeve on May 13 for inspecting roads and bridges. The report made following the inspection included the following recommendations:

The auditorium was suitably decked out in typical school fashion with blackboards chalked with school scenes and problems and tables arranged in colorful fashion for the guests to enjoy the program and a buffet luncheon.

Presentations Made

School board trustees T. Watson and M. Smith, former pupils of the retiring teacher, presented a Kroehler rocker to her on the board's behalf. Former inspector L. Skuce presented Miss Anderson with a pearl necklace from the Acton board and chairman Bradley presented a basket of flowers.

Read Address

School board secretary William Middleton read the following address to the retiring teacher: "The members of the board on whose behalf we are presenting this opportunity to offer their felicitations on your completion of forty years of successful teaching on the staff of the Acton Public Schools."

Expresses Gratitude

After a few words of gratitude to the school board and teachers, Miss Anderson highlighted some of the experiences of her teaching years and paid tribute to the Halton county school inspectors by remarking, "I don't think in all the world there are any nicer."
