Bell, in charge of the service stands in the foreground. Following the service at the cenotaph, a service was held in the United church, with a large congregation present.

ROCKWOOD

Acton Pipe Band Leads Parade In Remembrance Day Services

Weather conditions were most favorable for Remembrance Day services at the cenotaph Sunday at the churches.
Service at the cenotaph was well attended. Under the leadership of Lieut. Martin Bauer Sr., a parade formed up at the public school with veterans of the community, Boy Scouts, young people's groups of the United church. The presence of Acton Pipe Band with Pipe Major P. Caddick leading added much to the occasion.
Owing to opening services at Eden Mills at 10 a.m., Mr. J. Birch was not present. Rev. Mr. Bell took charge. Following the singing of O God Our Help in Ages Past Mrs. Harry Edwards, Rev. J. Oakes and Don Hills played wreaths at the foot of the monument. James Milne read the names of those who fell in battle.

Sermons in other churches dealt with Remembrance Day themes. At St. John's church, Holy Communion was observed.

Few Deer According to reports, hunters up north aren't bringing back much extra baggage in the way of deer. Wolves are blamed by some for causing the scarcity of game. Heard of one hunter who went all the way up north on a hunting trip. Hugged nothing. He came back. Went out Tuesday and shot a fine deer not many miles from home. Several Acton parties are heading north for the sport.
